A New Shuffle in Europe

THERE MAY come a new shuffling of the cards in Europe now. Poincare and his ministry are out, and Poincare says the resignation is final.

If the French Prime Minister refuses President Millerand's request to reconsider, there will come a change in French policy, especially if Briand or a man of his type should come into power.

The fall of the French cabinet then would be the biggest piece of European news since Ramsay MacDonald took office in London.

WHATEVER is surprising interests us all. Ninety per cent. of humor is in the surprise; you do not know what the ending is to be. What is the most surprising thing that ever happened, in your opinion?

Ulysses surprised those suitors, bothering his wife, when he came home. George Washington surprised King George. Siki surprised Carpentier, little Japan surprised Russia.

HERE ARE two modern surprises: Mrs. Sophie Burke, seventy-six years old, famous confidence woman and all around female criminal, who played an important part in the $3,000,000 Manhattan Bank robbery, reformed and wrote "Why Crime Does Not Pay." Night before last, in a Detroit lunch room, she and the proprietor were held up by boy bandits. She was driven under a table, and robbed of her little literary royalties. She was surprised and will write a postscript to her book.

DR. W. F. MALONE, able surgeon of Milwaukee, had started a major operation, when his hand faltered, as he stood above the patient, with the operation just begun. He dropped dead, and an assistant finished the operation. Can you imagine his surprise, waking up in the other world. Very, very likely he said to himself, "I must be the patient and the operation was not a success, or I'm dreaming." The patient recovered.

SCIENTISTS fear the approach of another ice age. The last one lasted 1,000 years, long enough to make human beings forget almost all they had learned.

It would be hard on business, real estate and prosperity generally, if we should have two or three years of Winter, with no Summer between, and then ice gradually creeping down from the Pole, coverit g the Continent, as far South as San Francisco or Santa Barbara.

BUT, PERHAPS, it won't happen, or science might handle the situation with artificial heating. Anyhow, it would not disturb Old Earth. She has still several hundred million years to live; we are only 12,000 years from the Stone Age. It matters little to Mother Earth whether we become civilized

Cardinal Home, Tells Plan For Holy Land

CARDINAL FEARS FOR HOLY LAND

Returning Prelate Urges International Commission to Govern Palestine

By BERT FORD

New York, March 27.—With a life ambition gratified, that of kneeling, not as a prince of the church, but as an humble pilgrim at Calvary, William, Cardinal O'Connell, of Boston, today returned from an extended tour of the Holy Land and an audience with His Holiness, Pope Pius XI.

The Cardinal was enriched in health and in ecclesiastic and political impressions by his ten-week trip abroad. His face was bronzed and he displayed physical and mental vigor.

Cardinal O'Connell

"You may say to the good people of the Boston diocese," said he, when asked for a greeting to the home folks, "that I am delighted to be home. I long to start to work again. I have prepared a pastoral letter which will be given out immediately after my return to Boston."

One of the most striking utterances made by Cardinal O'Connell in his statement to newspapermen who choked his stateroom on the Cunard liner Franconia, was the suggestion that an international commission might be appointed to govern Palestine and that America be represented without political or other entanglements.

He paid tribute to the British government for its management under special mandate, adding:

"But I think the British government might be helped even unofficially by the establishment of something like an international commission in which even America, though in no sense accepting political responsibility, might have a voice."

The foregoing suggestion followed a remark that he had observed political and ecclesiastical problems of tremendous import in Palestine, but that as he was traveling in a strictly

Radio Censorship Stoutly Opposed by Hoover

Washington, March 27. (I.N.S.).—Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover is opposed to radio censorship.

Hoover said there were thousands of complaints against the type of programs broadcast by commercial stations, now uncontrolled in the matter of the kind of material they use.

"People complain," Hoover said, "but they take whatever they can get, realizing that it is not costing them anything. If the government attempted to censor the programs, complaints would be trebled and there would be immediate demands for a Senatorial investigation."

Hug $50, Kiss $30, and at That You Do Not Get 'Em!

Judge Sturtevant in Somerville Court today said $50 looked like a reasonable amount.

Louis Abramson, grocer, at No. 516 Medford street, Somerville, was before the court as the hugger in the case. The hugee was Ardella Lahroqui of No. 41 Ames street, Somerville.

"Hello, Mary, give me a kiss?" as requested by Edward (Bunch") O'Neil, pugilist, got him thirty days in Salem Jail when he came before Judge Ralph W. Reeve in Lynn Court.

SENATOR LA FOLLETTE PNEUMONIA VICTIM

Washington, March 27.—Senator La Follette of Wisconsin has developed pneumonia.

His office today issued the following physician's bulletin:

"Senator La Follette has developed pneumonia. His present condition is satisfactory."

RADIO USED TO CLEAR MYSTERY

Messages to Wife of Missing Dry Agent Indicate Death by Bootleggers

The radio is being used in a last-hope effort to clear up the mystery in the disappearance of John F. Lawson, prohibition agent, whose body has never been found, although his wife received mysterious messages which led to the belief that bootleggers had murdered him.

John F. Lawson.

Lawson's mother, who lives at No. 29 Webster street, Everett, is to undergo a very serious operation in May. She hopes that radio inquiries, which will be broadcasted from stations all over the world, will locate her son if by any chance he is still alive.

Lawson dropped from sight just a year ago. Police and newspapers were called to aid in the hunt for him. One mysterious message reported by his wife was that rumrunners killed him and threw his body into Narragansett Bay.

"Only one new fact has been uncovered since the story of my husband's disappearance dropped out of the newspapers," said Mrs. Lawson today. "We have learned definitely that the day before he disappeared he received a threat of death if he went into court to testify.

"Neither I nor his parents have any hope that he is alive. His father recently saw Superintendent of Police Crowley of Boston and arrangements were made to broadcast from WGI and WEAF and the same inquiries will be sent out all over the world."

BOXER FINED $100 ON LIQUOR SALE CHARGE

Thomas ("Tommy") Robson, Malden middleweight boxer, was found guilty on a liquor sale charge by a Middlesex Superior court jury that deliberated for twelve hours before returning a sealed verdict. Robson was fined $100 by Judge Mahoney and paid. The boxer conducts a lunch room in Malden. It was alleged that he sold liquor to a Malden policeman. Robson, in his testimony, denied the sale and denied knowing of the presence of liquor in his lunch room.

Patrons sometimes brought their own liquor, he declared in explanation of liquor claimed by the police to have been found on the premises.

SAVE 12 IN ORPHANS' HOME FIRE

Police and Firemen Lead Hysterical Inmates From Blaze in Roxbury Institution

Twelve inmates of the Widows and Orphans' Home, No. 18-20 Arnold street, Roxbury, were assisted from the institution by policemen and firemen today when the home, a two-story frame structure, caught fire.

The blaze was confined to the second floor and the attic, the loss amounting to $2,500.

The home, an institution for colored persons, is known as the Church of God and Saints of Christ Widows and Orphans' Home. Thirty inmates, many of them small children and aged women, live there.

The fire broke out on the second floor about the time the inmates were getting up. One side of the structure burned rapidly, the flames eating through the roof.

Patrolman James Taylor of the Roxbury station, who responded to the alarm with the firemen, aided in this in making their way to the street.

A dozen of the women and children became hysterical and had to be led through the smoke-filled hallways to safety.

A child, Otis Brantley, was ill in bed from a cold. Patrolman Taylor carried her to the street.

The firemen confined the blaze to one side of the structure and within two hours after the fire was extinguished the other side of the institution was in use again.

CALIFORNIANS WANT JAPS BARRED OUT

San Francisco, March 27.—A protest against the "Gentlemen's agreement" with the Japanese and a plea for laws barring immigration of persons ineligible to citizenship have been telegraphed to President Coolidge by Representatives of the American Legion, the California Branch of the American Federation of Labor, the Native Sons of the Golden West, and the California State Grange.

The telegram told of President Roosevelt's attitude on the present agreement with Japan and opposed placing Japan on the "quota" basis for immigration.

BROCKTON GIRL IS VICTIM OF OVERSTUDY

Brockton, March 27.—The police of all the large cities in the United States have been asked to be on the lookout for Olga Kibrick, seventeen, a member of the junior class at Brockton High School, who has been missing from home nine days.

On the afternoon of Tuesday, March 18, Olga filled a suitcase, took the $100 she had saved from her weekly allowances, told the housekeeper she was "carrying magazines to a girl friend," and vanished.

The girl is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac S. Kibrick of No. 81 Ash street.

Her father, a well-to-do insurance broker, believes his daughter wandered away while suffering temporary mental aberration.

"She is the victim of overstudy."

SENATOR DEMANDS MELLON GET OUT

Washington, March 27—(I.N.S.)—A demand that Secretary of the Treasury Mellon immediately resign from the Cabinet was made in the Senate today by Senator McKellar of Tennessee. Senator McKellar charged that Mellon, because of his interests in numerous business enterprises, was holding office in violation of Federal statutes prohibiting the Secretary of Treasury from engaging in trade and commerce. McKellar cited a long list of companies, including the old Overholt Distilling Company in which he said Mellon was part owner.

$250,000 Went to Penrose and $25,000 Each to Daugherty and Hays. He Charges

Washington, March 27 (A. P.).—Al Jennings, former train robber, told the Senate Oil Committee today Jake Hamon had told him at Chicago in 1920 that Warren G. Harding was to be nominated as President and that it had cost Hamon $1,000,000.

Of this sum $250,000 went to the late Senator Boies Penrose of Pennsylvania, Jennings said he was told by Hamon, who then was Republican National Committeeman for Oklahoma.

"Hamon said he gave $25,000 to Harry M. Daugherty," Jennings added.

"Anybody else?" asked Senator Dill.

"Yes, $25,000 to Will H. Hays."

Hamon was quoted as having said

Will H. Hays H. M. Daugherty

he was to be Secretary of the Interior and was to share in patronage. Daugherty at first was for Attorney R. Fall for Interior Secretary, Jennings said Hamon told him. But

HARDING NOMINATION COST MILLION, DECLARES JENNINGS

DECLARES SENATOR PENROSE, DAUGHERTY AND WILL HAYS EACH RECEIVED SHARE OF THE MONEY

Hamon won finally and would have been appointed had he not been killed soon after the election.

Jennings also quoted Hamon as having said that with the money he would make he eventually would become President of the United States.

KNEW HIM WELL

Jennings said he was intimate with Hamon and attended the convention with him.

"Did you have any conversations with Mr. Hamon before going to Chicago as to his plans for the future?" asked Senator Walsh.

"Yes, that goes back to 1917," Jennings said. He then told of visiting Hamon at Ardmore and spending the night with him at a hotel, talking.

"We had some drinks of 'Four Roses,'" Jennings said, "and talked all night. Hamon wanted me to come back and run for Governor.

"Hamon said: 'I'm going to be the biggest man in the United States before I close my career.'"

Hamon carried Oklahoma for Harding, the witness said, adding that the committeeman told him it had cost him a half million dollars.

"Wasn't Hamon for Wood at the start?" asked Senator Thomas.

"He never liked Wood," Jennings replied. "He said Wood was too much impregnated with the damned fool honesty of Theodore Roosevelt."

"At the Chicago convention," Jennings went on, "we went to a room in one of the hotels. Hamon told me Harding would be nominated the next day and that it had cost him a million dollars.

"He said he had paid $250,000 to Boise Penrose, and in a conversation it was brought out in some way—I will not be perfectly clear about it—that it was agreed by Daugherty, Will Hays and he name somebody else, from Ohio, that he would be Secretary of the Interior.

"He said it had all been settled. He said Daugherty was at first in favor of Senator Fall for the position. But that he had bought them all over, but that it had cost him a lot of money to do it. That is about all I know of it."

FAVORED FALL

"I understand Hamon told you that in the make-up of the Cabinet of Mr. Harding," said Senator Spencer, "that Daugherty was in favor of Fall."

"Yes, but that it had been all arranged that he, Hamon, was to be Secretary of the Interior."

"Do you think all the information he gave you turned out with the same degree of correctness as has that?"

"That was the whole deal and that was what he expected to get in on."

Replying to inquiries from Senator Dill, Jennings said:

"He (Hamon) wanted me to head one of his companies. He said the Democrats had not left much of the public land, but that he would get the rest of it."

"Did he speak about the oil reserves?"

"He said public lands, nothing I can remember about oil reserves. He said money had been very potent in Washington as in the outlying districts of the United States, and that with his money he would be President of the United States.

"I have talked with people in Oklahoma about Hamon's expectations, and I do not think he kept it from anybody."

"I wish you would tell us in a connected way, as well as your memory will serve you, about what was said concerning the acquisition of public lands or the expectation of the same," said Senator Walsh.

"Mr. Hamon at two or three times before I got into this mixup wanted me to come back to Ardmore and asked me to go in with him in an oil deal," replied Jennings.

"I don't like to say it myself, but the people rather had confidence in me in Oklahoma, and more than one oil company had tried to use my name in the exploitation of the companies in selling stock, and Jake had repeatedly asked me to come in and form a new company and we could finance it with his money. The company would be perfectly legitimate.

"In talking about being Secretary of the Interior, it was just a general conversation and I want to be perfectly frank with you. I did not believe in Jake's methods, I had no faith in those methods. There was one reason I liked and adhered to his friendship. That was because he was the only lawyer in Lawton who had extended his hand to me when I came out of prison.

"I would have hesitated a long time about making the statement I have today. I do not believe in talking about anybody. I am always very reluctant in giving evidence even against a criminal. But I believe our country is really in need of all the help it can get at this time."

SPENCER CHARGES

After Jennings had concluded, Senators Walsh and Spencer had a row over a statement credited to Senator Spencer in a dispatch from New York last night.

The Missouri Senator was quoted as having said the oil inquiry was accomplishing very little; that the people were weary of it; and that things just as bad had happened under Interior Lane's administration as under Secretary Fall.

Senator Walsh said he would pass over the "impropriety" of a member of the committee commenting on its work in that way, and would ask Senator Spencer on what information he based the statement about Secretary Lane's administration, so the committee could investigate it.

Senator Spencer replied he would produce his facts in "good time" after he had made further investigation.

"Do you believe the truth of your statement?" asked Senator Walsh.

"I do not deny it," Senator Spencer returned.

Then Senator Spencer said there was a report that Senator Walsh had visited E. L. Doheny on his private car to ascertain to what he would testify.

CAMPAIGN LOANS

"If the Senator asks me about that," Senator Walsh interrupted, "I will tell him I never talked with Doheny before he appeared here, and never saw his private car."

While Jennings was waiting to testify the committee called Leroy W. Baldwin, president of the Empire Trust Company, New York city.

He told of loans to the Republican National Committee by that company aggregating $266,620 and of their repayment with interest over a period of from two to three years.

The first loan was for $10,000, made September 27, 1920. On January 21, 1921, $10,000 of this amount was repaid; $10,000 was repaid April 18, 1921, and the balance was paid December 3, 1923.

Another loan of $166,620 was made April 25, 1922, and was retired finally December 3, 1923.

"We never had any collateral on any of these notes," Baldwin said.

"The $166,620 loan was repaid as follows: April 14, 1923, $90,331; February 21, 1923, $25,009; April 5, 1923, $25,000; November 21, 1923, $22,287, and the balance, $14,000, on December 2 1923."

The Republican National committee had a checking account opened September 25, 1920, with a deposit of $100,000, presumably the proceeds from the $100,000 note, Baldwin said.

PAID BY HAYS

He testified that in connection with the first loan, $75,000 in government bonds were delivered by Will H. Hays, former chairman of the national committee, to Coleman Dupont, chairman of the Empire Trust board.

They were sold to help retire the $100,000 first loan.

Baldwin was unable to say how all payments on the notes were made. He said notes were given for the loans, but when asked who signed the notes he replied:

"I do not remember."

ROW DEVELOPS AS HARDING IS NAMED

Bitter Wrangle in Daugherty Probe as $33,000,000 Deal Is Brought Up

Washington, March 27.—The name of President Warren G. Harding was dragged sensationally into the mire of the Daugherty investigation today in a tempestuous session of the Daugherty committee in which new friends and enemies of the attorney-general snarling at each other and hurling charges and counter-charges as thick as hailstones.

The spectacle clearly outdid anything else that has gone before in the riotous investigation.

The committee had forbidden Miss Roxie Stinson to divulge the names of the five men—friends of Daugherty and the late Jess W. Smith—whom Miss Stinson had said cleared up $33,000,000 in Sinclair oil stock in August, 1922.

CROWD SURPRISED

The committee's refusal to allow Miss Stinson to tell the names surprised the vast crowd that packed the committee room to hear her undergo cross-examination at the hands of Daugherty's lawyers.

Senator Brookhart said the committee had discussed the matter secretly and that inasmuch as neither Daugherty nor Smith were involved in the deal, they thought the names of the plungers were not relevant to the present investigation.

Paul Howland and former Senator Chamberlain, counsel for Daugherty, insisted the witness should tell the names of the five men.

"We don't know who those five people are and we care less," Senator Chamberlain said. "We assume the committee wants the truth. My impression is that she is going to say Jess Smith told her one of the five men was the President of the United States. Now, when the fact is this splitter, Frank A. Vanderlip——"

Senator Wheeler broke in to say it "was not fair in view of the facts that every member of this committee is under attack by the Republican National Committee."

"It is time for me to make a stump speech," interjected Senator Ashurst. "You are anxious to put us into a trap, where we will be charged by the metropolitan press with besmirching the name of a man now dead. Though our footsteps are dogged by day and by night, you have not walked us into this trap."

NEVER FORGET

While the committee was not arguing about the $33,000,000 deal, which it said had never involved the Attorney-General or Smith, Miss Stinson was examined by Howland as to her testimony of Smith's stock deals and the incident in a Cleveland hotel, where A. L. Fink of Buffalo had registered her as his wife.

Miss Stinson said the business deal on which A. L. Fink had called her to Cleveland was a reorganization of "the Ideal Tire & Rubber Company," which Fink had undertaken.

"On Saturday you read from a statement about this Cleveland transaction?" Howland said, referring to Miss Stinson's assertion that she had been "framed up" in a Cleveland hotel with Fink by false registration. "You said you had some notes of what went on there?"

"I tore them up," she said. "I don't presume, though, that I'll ever forget about that."

"Have you talked over this matter with Senator Wheeler?"

"I have met him," she said. "I've read over letters to him."

Asked as to whether she had discussed the matter with Frank A. Vanderlip, she said, "He told me he was interested as a citizen."

"How long have you known Mr. Fink?"

A "BUBBLE"

"About ten years," she said.

"Did you come as a purchaser of rubber stock?"

Miss Stinson said Fink had so regarded her. A "Mr. Ellis" was his partner, she went on, and the two "had forty men out in Cleveland?"

"Did Fink tell you the company was in a receivership in the hands of the Hon. Newton D. Baker?"

"No."

Miss Stinson said Fink had wished to interest her as an investor in the rubber company deal, but that she thought it was "a bubble" and had nothing to do with it.

"I was introduced as Miss Brown to Mr. Ellis at the Statler Hotel," Miss Stinson went on. "I don't know why I asked Mr. Fink what he did it for."

"When did you next see Mr. Fink after leaving Columbus?"

"At home, where he came with Senator Wheeler and Mr. Stearn."

"You have explained that at Cleveland you were incensed to find yourself registered like that," Mr. Howland said. "But you had dinner and breakfast with him."

"I had breakfast with him because I wanted an arrangement whereby I could get my luggage," Miss Stinson retorted.

"When were you married to Jess Smith?"

"November 8, 1968."

"When were you divorced?"

"About a year and a half later."

"You testified yesterday Jess Smith told you there was a profit made of $32,000,000 by five men. Who were they?"

At this point the wrangle between Daugherty's counsel and the committee members broke out and Miss Stinson was excused.

NO HELP GIVEN

Arthur D. Robb, a Department of Justice filing clerk, was called to furnish a list of cases in his file the committee wanted.

Robb said he had asked for help in the big task asked of him, but had not received it. The committee called M. S. Daugherty, brother of the Attorney-General, who did not answer, and the sergeant-at-arms was called to summon him. Mr. Howland said Daugherty was not in the city and he could not say whether he "intended" to answer the committee summons.

A brown wire-haired terrier belonging to W. A. Hocheim of No. 11 Auburn street, Somerville, which jumped from the Hocheim motor car last October in Concord, suddenly turned up in the Winter Hill section of Somerville, after five months of wandering, terrorized residents on eight or ten streets for nearly two hours, bit five persons, and finally was killed by a bullet from the revolver of Patrolman O'Connell.

According to the police records, the five persons attacked by the dog are:

William H. Armstrong, Bedford street, Lexington; bitten on the right leg while in Marshall street, near Broadway.

Mrs. Olive Anderson, No. 17 Walter street; bitten on the left leg while in Broadway, near Kenneson road.

Mrs. Ella Green, No. 42 Sidney street; bitten on the right ankle while in Temple street.

J. Cullins, No. 28 Main street; bit ten on the left leg while in Broadway, near Central street.

GIRL VANISHES

he says, "of a mad anxiety to make up her time lost from school through illness. There is no young man in the case; of that I am sure. I only wish there was, for under the existing circumstances I fear that something terrible may happen t my baby when her money is gone and she finds her self in want and probably does not know who she is."

Neighbors declare that the girl talked of "seeking a career" in musical comedy and often spoke of New York. Some of them hint at domestic wrangles over the subject.

On the day of her disappearance, Miss Kibrick wore a coat of green, ish-gray broadcloth with fur collar, a greenish-blue dress with white blouse, a blue duvetyn hat, brown shoes and brown stockings.

SAYS AIRCRAFT PROBES WERE "BLOCKED"

Reports on War Frauds Also Missing From Files, Secret Service Man Charges

Washington, March 27.—H. L. Scaife, a former agent of the Department of Justice, told the Daugherty committee today that he quit the department because his investigation into aircraft frauds were blocked "by powerful interests caught in the meshes of the law."

He charged also that the principal report that he made relative to these frauds, involving the Standard Aircraft and Wright-Martin concerns, had disappeared from the department's files.

MEANS PUT ON

"You have said powerful interests were blocking the aircraft investigation," Senator Wheeler asked Scaife. Tell is how you were blocked, beside being told there were no appropriations?"

Scaife said he had been told at the army air service that they "had been told not to give me any more information."

Scaife said he had filed two copies of a report with the Department of Justice. The report, he added, was to the effect that the aircraft case prosecutions were being "blocked."

"What recommendations did you make in these?"

"The principal recommendation was that these blocks to the investigation b removed."

A memo to A. F. Meyers, then special Assistant Attorney General in charge of war fraud cases, denying any purpose to block the aircraft investigations, was read.

Scaife said Gaston B. Means had been "put on to assist" him by Burns.

"The first thing I did was to investigate Means," Scaife said.

Means was later suspended, the witness said.

"Why?" asked Senator Ashurst.

"Because we were getting at these big crooks," declared Scaife.

NO PROSECUTION

"Has any prosecution been had of the Glenn L. Martin case?"

"No; they haven't even got the audit yet," Scaife returned.

"Notwithstanding that Congress has since furnished a $500,000 appropriation for the purpose?"

"Yes."

"Were you ever told to stop because you were getting among big people?" Senator Ashurst put in.

"I can't say as to those words," Scaife went on, "but they suspended Means; he was my only assistant, and he had been put on by Burns."

False, Preposterous, Says Penrose's Secretary

Washington, March 27.—The story told by Al Jennings today to the Senate Oil Committee was branded as "false and preposterous," in a statement by Leighton C. Taylor, former secretary to the late Senator Penrose of Pennsylvania.

Declaring he had been in constant attendance upon the Senator while he was ill in Philadelphia before and during the Chicago convention, Taylor said Hamon had never seen or communicated with Penrose, nor had the latter ever mentioned Hamon's name to his secretary.

"I haven't the slightest recollection of ever having seen or met Jake Hamon myself anytime during the month preceding the Chicago convention," said Taylor, "and close as I was to Senator Penrose during those months I don't see how Hamon could have seen him without my knowing of it.

"It will be recalled that Senator Penrose was a very sick man both before and during the convention, and very few persons were able to see him at his Philadelphia residence, where he was lying ill, and then only through me."

"I was constantly at his bedside and certainly neither Hamon nor anyone else could have seen him without my being aware of it."

May Cite Daugherty's Brother for Contempt

Washington, March 27.—The Senate Daugherty committee today ordered M. S. Daugherty, brother of the Attorney-General, summoned by the sergeant-at-arms when he failed to appear in answer to a summons. Senator Wheeler said had been served.

Senator Wheeler moved that failure of Mal Daugherty and certain Ohio bank officials to appear be reported to the Senate. It was agreed that the form of action the committee would recommend to the Senate would be determined later.

"DARK MAN" ANNOYED WOMAN KILLED LATER ON LONELY ROAD

AUTO SLAYER OF MRS. BAUER MAY BE MANIAC, SAY POLICE

New York, March 27.—Ten days before Mrs. Maud Bauer, attractive young mother of two children, was murdered in a secluded spot in Staten Island, a dark-complexioned man annoyed her, police were told today.

This man answers the general description of the "man in the closed car" who gave Mrs. Bauer a lift less than half an hour before she was found dead Tuesday evening.

Mrs. George F. Pero, mother of Mrs. Bauer, informed detectives that her daughter had casually mentioned having been followed by a man in a sedan from the ferry to her home.

"Don't tell Walter (her husband)," Mrs. Bauer had said, "he's inquisitive and would start looking for the man."

IGNORED THE MAN

The man saw Mrs. Bauer get on a trolley car for home. He called across to the trolley several times in his sedan, grimacing at her, apparently signalling invitations to leave the car and get into his machine. She ignored him.

Police of Staten Island have received many complaints in the past two months from women who said they had been annoyed by a man who insistently urged them to ride with him.

Detectives are now working on the theory that this was the man who offered Mrs. Bauer a lift to the nearest garage when her car became mired in a lonely section and killed her less than 300 yards from where her mother and her two children waited in the stalled automobile.

The fact Mrs. Bauer's slayer carried a pistol has led many detectives to the belief that he is a maniac and a degenerate.

ANOTHER LEAD.

Another lead being followed by the police—one which they admitted they believed to be but another blind—was furnished today with the finding of a brown overcoat and brown hat on a North River pier, on the Manhattan side. A note in the hat, directed to the police, indicated that the writer, Alfred Hansser, was about to commit suicide. It directed that his effects be sent to his wife, whose address, the missive said, was "R. F. D., No. 5, Auburn, Me., care of H. Gouse."

"I am doing this because I am tired of life," the writer asserted in his only explanation of his supposed suicide.

"The man in brown" who was questioned for hours by the police yesterday, fully satisfied the authorities that he was miles away from the murder scene last Tuesday. A blood spot on his hat, which the police had analyzed to determine its age, was found to have come from a cut inflicted while shaving several weeks ago.

INDEFINITE CLEWS.

After an intense search of more than thirty-eight hours, the authorities admitted that most of their clews were indefinite and that prospect of the arrest of the slayer was not bright.

There was a belief among some detectives that the baffling murder would go down in the long list of unsolved mysteries.

Besides the alarm sent out to capture the dark complexioned flirt in the sedan, an order was also issued for a man in a brown overcoat and hat, wearing tortoise shell glasses, a description furnished by several children who said they saw a man so attired near the scene of the murder shortly before it was committed. One moral was drawn from the slaying. District Attorney Fach of Richmond County warned all women not to enter a stranger's automobile.

CHILDREN WEEP.

Little Maud and Helen cry for their mother, the mother and father sob silently, and the husband Bauer, an electrical engineer, declares he will kill the murderer with his bare hands.

MAD DOG SCARES PEDESTRIANS IN MARLBORO

Terrier Shot After Wild Attempts to Attack Tots at Play in Home

Marlboro, March 27.—A mad Irish terrier raced through Lincoln and East Lincoln streets today, causing pedestrians to flee.

The dog jumped on the veranda of the home of Mrs. Arthur Vezina at No. 167 Lincoln street. Her three children, the eldest four, were playing on the parlor floor. The window was open.

The animal leaped for the open window, raised, knocked a row of toys off the sill and fell back again. The children screamed.

Mrs. Vezina rushed into the room and closed the window just as the dog leaped again toward it.

The dog then raced across the street and threw himself at the doors and windows in the home of John Fitzpatrick.

The terrier sprang up at Fitzpatrick as he opened the door, his froth-dripping jaws snapping. A second before the animal's teeth would have set in his throat, Fitzpatrick banged the door closed.

Patrolman R. T. Mitchell, summoned by terrified residents, shot the animal as it was jumping and snapping on the Fitzpatrick veranda. The head will be examined to determine if the terrier was suffering from rabies.

MEMORY GONE, FORGETS WIFE, WEDS AGAIN

Former Football Association Manager Is Held on a Charge of Bigamy

Greensboro, N. C., March 27.—Jacob L. Schofield, former manager of the United States Football Association, held here on a charge of bigamy, related today a remarkable story of loss of memory, traveling in fast company, a long series of philanthropic works through the southeast, winding up with an illegal marriage to a young woman of Winston-Salem, N. C.

"When I met Mrs. Schofield this first wife," he said, "I was secretary of the United States Football Association. I went to New York in connection with my business and got into fast company. I absented myself from my office for a considerable time and there was an interval of several days that I don't remember anything about. When I came to myself, I was stranded in Rhode Island. My idea then was that I had lost my occupation and could get he of any use at home, so I decided to wait until I got on my feet before making my whereabouts known.

"I engaged in Salvation Army work as campaign manager in Danville, Staunton, Salem, Cumberland and Fredericksburg, Va., raising funds for the organization. I raised about $1,000 a week while I was doing that work for almost a year, receiving nothing but my bare expenses. I plunged into religious work, visiting the sick and doing relief work that the Salvation Army officers are called upon to do."

About this time, Schofield said, he was connected with the Chamberlin Corporation of Commerce of Fredericksburg, Va., and conducted campaigns for funds for philanthropic work. He said he then became dissatisfied and decided to come to Greensboro, where he got a job as an accountant with an automobile concern. His second marriage was to a young woman of Winston-Salem, N. C.

WILBUR LENDS NAVY'S AID TO WORLD FLIGHT

Washington, March 27.—Secretary of the Navy Wilbur called in his chief bureau lieutenants and instructed them to give every assistance to the army's round-the-world airplane flight.

The navy will lend destroyers to bridge the longest hops of the expedition, from Seward, Alaska, to the Kuril Islands, Japan, a distance of 2,500 miles. The ships will be placed at intervals of about 250 miles "so as to relay radio messages and extend a hand if the planes should be obliged to descend."

BODY OF SUICIDE LAY MONTHS IN SNOWBANK

Death of Lowell Man Revealed by Accident at Manchester, N. H.

Manchester, N. H., March 27.—For months the body of a man lay in a snowbank at the corner of Second and West Manchester streets, Manchester.

The handle of a handbag protruding from the snow led to the discovery of the body, which was today identified as that of Kalis Makola of No. 20 Mason's court, Lowell.

Clutched in the man's right hand was an open razor and Medical Referee Power, following an investigation, pronounced death due to "probable suicide."

Perley Sumner, a Manchester man was passing the intersection of the street when he saw a dark object in the snow. He investigated and discovered it was a bag. Kicking through the snow, he uncovered the arm of a man, and then the body was revealed.

The condition of the body indicated that the man had been dead several months. A letter in a pocket of the dead man's clothing bore the Lowell address.

Investigation in Lowell disclosed that Makola had relatives living there. He had not been seen for five months, but his relatives did not regard that as unusual as he frequently went away for long periods.

FEAR SHIP WITH NEW ENGLAND CREW LOST

Four-Masted Schooner Purnell T. White Missing During Big Gale at Sea

Norfolk, Va., March 27.—With her rudder lost just off the entrance to the Virginia Capes, the four-masted schooner Brina Pendleton of New York is being towed to Norfolk today by the coast guard cutter Mascoutin, which reached here at daylight. She was sighted yesterday flying signals of istress. The schooner was en route from Charleston, S. C., to New York.

Some uneasiness a felt in shipping circles over the non-arrival of the four-masted schooner Purnell T. White, overdue from the Caribbean with a cargo of salt.

She ran into a fierce storm and may have been lost. Her captain and crew of ten men are from New England ports.

Costume Ball Tomorrow Night to Attract Hub Smart Set, Says Betty Alden

By BETTY ALDEN.

CLOTHES may not make the man or woman on all occasions, but they certainly do at a costume affair.

Wherefore several hundred brains have been cudgeled to decide the sartorial question for the costume ball taking place at the Somerset tomorrow night.

Though the full quota of Pierrots and Pierrettes, Colonial dames and troubadours is certain to be filled, there are always a few who achieve the impossible and appear in something different.

Mrs. Hendricks H. Whitman

Others who have been completing arrangements for tomorrow night's ball with Mrs. Whitman include Mrs. Richard S. Russell, Mrs. Archibald Blanchard, Mrs. Herbert Jaques, Jr., and Mrs. William S. Patten.

A number of dinners will precede the ball, the hostesses including Mrs. Patten and Mrs. Blanchard.

MRS. QUINCY A. SHAW of "Pompey's Garden," Pride's Crossing, one of the finest estates along the Shore, is planning to have a garden this year where nice old-fashioned wild flowers will be grown.

"Pompey's Garden" has, of course, a splendid greenhouse, where the rarest of blossoms are cultivated. Dijon roses, which grow out-of-doors in France and Italy, but only under glass in this country, are a favorite of Mrs. Shaw's.

The chatelaine of "Pompey's Garden," whose town home is on Exeter street, has been spending the cold weather in the South. She will return to the Shore the last of May.

APROPOS of the Shore, there is interest in the recent engagement of Miss Mary Russell Paul and Dr. Charles Colket Caner of Philadelphia.

Mrs. H. K. Caner

Dr. Caner is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Caner, who spend much of their time at "Pleasmeer," as their Manchester-by-the-Sea estate is known.

Mrs. Caner is prominent among the Shore's Summer colonists, and is not a little interested in theatricals.

GRACE SARGENT

Miss Grace Sargent of Brookline, who is one of the chic dancers in the coming Vincent Club show, made her debut a year ago this Winter.

CAMBRIDGE WOMAN OVERCOME BY GAS

Mrs. Louise Sheuffelt, twenty-eight years old, was found on the floor of her room, at No. 11 Prescott street, Cambridge, today, overcome by gas escaping from a heater. She was rushed to Cambridge City Hospital, where her name is on the danger list. Mrs. Sheuffelt, who has been separated from her husband for some time, recently moved from Vermont. Her husband is at a Maine lumber camp.

One-Piece Suits and Bare Legs O. K.'d in Atlantic City

Atlantic City, March 27.—Use of the one-piece bathing suit, with skirt and no stockings, will be permitted on the beach this Summer, it is announced by Mayor Bader.

Just before giving out his decision the Mayor was photographed with Miss Betty Becker, national diving champion, and Miss Ruth Thomas, national breast stroke champion, both wearing the approved bathing suits.

Bare legs were banned last Summer.

NEW TAX BILL FIGHT DUE IN SENATE

40 Per Cent. Surtax Is Urged and Final Defeat of Mellon Plan Assured

Washington, March 27 (I.N.S.)—A general tax bill that has for its maximum surtax 40 per cent. instead of the 37½ that was agreed upon between the warring Republican factions in the House, and incorporated in the Longworth compromise, was in prospect today as the Senate Finance Committee continued to wrestle with the measure.

A survey of sentiment in the Senate indicated that it is going to outdo the House in wrecking the carefully prepared scale of rates originally laid down by Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, calling for a normal tax of 3 per cent. and a maximum surtax of 25 per cent.

The action of Republican leaders in writing the Mellon rates back into the bill was merely a gesture. It was designed to force a showdown vote on the original Mellon bill, possibly to further demonstrate to President Coolidge the utter hopelessness of trying to pass the Mellon bill as originally written.

Once the Mellon rates are voted down, as they will be on the first showdown, the Democrats and insurgent Republicans plan to get together and, as in the House, write their own figures into the bill.

They plan to leave the normal tax as fixed by Longworth at 2 per cent. and raise the maximum surtax to 40 per cent. Some are even predicting 44 per cent., but the majority opinion favors 40.

BORAH ASKS FOR WORLD CONFERENCE

Washington, March 27.—Senator Borah offered a joint resolution in the Senate today requesting the President to invoke "such nations as he deems wise" to send representatives to a combined economic and disarmament conference in Washington.

WIFE CALLS MATE "HIS MOTHER'S PET"

Nat Goldberg, Revere insurance man, stayed away from his wife because he feared, he said, that if he returned his mother would disown him. This was testified today in Suffolk Court by the wife, Mrs. Sadie Goldberg, during a hearing before Judge Qua on cross divorce suits filed by the couple. Each charged cruel and abusive treatment. Mrs. Goldberg characterized her husband as "always the pet of his mother." On one occasion, the wife testified, she heard her mother-in-law say: "I'll fix Sadie if I have to break everything in the house."

Mrs. Yetta Hoffman of Nahant road, Revere, testified Goldberg struck his wife while they and Mrs. Hoffman were visiting friends.

URGE CHANGE OF DOVER STREET TO BERKELEY

South End Merchants Also Ask Washington Street Structure Be Removed

A group of outh End merchants led be former City Councillor Henry E. Hagan, today urged the Board of Street Commissioners at City Hall to change the name of Dover street to Berkeley street.

Mr. Hagan declared that the name Dover street had no historic value and that its old reputation was bad to a great many people because of conditions which existed there, but which were now not in evidence. A change in the name of the street would revive business 10 per cent., he declared.

Mr. Hagan outlined a plan that the South End Merchants and Property Owners Association, of which those present were members, had for making Washington street, between Stuart and West Brookline street, a white way.

Chairman John H. L. Noyes agreed with Mr. Hagan on a proposition to tear down the Elevated structure along Washington street, and the substitution of a subway.

The board looks with favor upon the changing of the name of Dover street to Berkeley, but withheld its decision.

"SEND US BACK TO DEAR OLD PORTO RICO"

Three Shivering Stowaways Plead With Official at the Custom House

Clad in thin seersucker suits, shivering and blue, three Porto Rican boys, speaking only Spanish, have been wandering about the streets of Boston since last Monday in search of work.

Today they drifted into the office of the United States Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce.

Through a Spanish-speaking clerk, Lynn W. Meekins, manager of the bureau, learned their sad tale. The burden of it is: Send us back to that dear Porto Rico, where the warm sun shines and one can always get a banana or a mango or a joint of sugar cane or something to ease the pangs of hunger."

The boys are Antonia Roman, sixteen; Jose M. Guillen, nineteen, and Angel G. Valentino, twenty-one. The latter disclaimed any relationship to Rudolph of that name.

They stowed away on the American steamer Ozama at Ponce and came to Boston in search of adventure. Porto Rico being an American possession, the immigration laws do not apply to them, and they were set ashore when the Ozama arrived at the American Sugar Refinery wharf at Fort Point Channel.

They were sent to the Volunteers of America to remain until Monday when they will probably be given a berth on a United Fruit liner sailing for the tropics.

DR. BARTON TO TELL NEEDS IN NEAR EAST

Barton, chairman of the National Near East Relief Committee and an international authority on conditions in the Near and Far East, will fill the pulpit at the Arlington Street Unitarian Church, Sunday morning. The service will be one of 350 to be held simultaneously to explain needs in the Near East.

Dr. Barton, a native of Vermont and a graduate of Middlebury College and Hartford Theological Seminary, has spent many years in the orient. He served on a commission which in 1919 investigated conditions in Asia Minor, Syria and the Caucasus. He also served as foreign secretary of the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions.

POINCARE PLANS FOR NEW CABINET

Paris, March 27 (A.P.).—Premier Poincare reached the Ministry of Foreign Affairs early today and immediately went to work, continuing the consultations with a view to reconstituting the cabinet.

He received M. d'Aubigny, undersecretary of State for Finances, at 8.30 o'clock, and later Senator de Selves, chairman of the Foreign Affairs Committee of the Senate, with whom he held a long conversation.

"I am not in a position to give a definite reply at the present moment," he told the correspondents. "I am simply going to inform the President of the Republic that I have conferred with my political friends this morning and will continue the consultations this afternoon."

Careless Shampooing Spoils The Hair USE MULSIFIED

Soap should be used very carefully, if you want to keep your hair looking its best. Many soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much free alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo, which is pure and greaseless, and is better than anything else you can use.

Two or three teaspoonfuls is sufficient to cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excess oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy, wavy and easy to manage.

You can get Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo at any drug store. It is inexpensive, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months.

now, or forget our love and postpone civilization 100,000 years more. Nature is not in a hurry. There are living animals whose evolution represents ten million years, the whale, for instance, that used to live on land and was smaller than a gray squirrel.

Colonel Bryan need not believe that, if he doesn't want to. It's only what scientists say.

WALL STREET was not feeling very well again, yesterday. Little steel companies are not happy, and incline to cut prices. If a price war starts, while wise Judge Gary is sailing around South America, some one will get hurt. Heaven help the stockholders in the little companies, if they embark on that rough sea. The "Four Horsemen" of the stock market, Steel, Studebaker, Baldwin Locomotive and American Can, have all been a little lame.

THERE seems to be comfort for railroad owners and no wonder, the public's pocket being stretched wide open by the Interstate Commission's patent pocket stretcher.

Saint Paul's net profits for February this year are more than double what they were in 1923, although the gross income was smaller.

WILLIAM FERREE, war veteran, has had two-thirds of his stomach removed, and has gained 35 pounds' weight. He is now able to work and enjoy life.

Nature and science combined work wonders, and will take care of us, if we give them half a chance. Many a man, with his stomach whole, would be better off with half of it if he learned to take care of what he had left. If men, occasionally, would throw into a pail what they throw, half chewed, into their stomachs, and then look at the pail, they would know why so many die too soon.

WITH STANDARD OIL setting the example, fifteen great corporations have agreed to discontinue roadside advertising that disfigures landscapes. Manufacturers of tires, automobiles, soap, flour, motor parts, oil, yeasts and products are included among corporations that will discontinue disfiguring the landscape with bill board advertising.

That is more than a concession to public opinion and good taste; it is also good business. Roadside advertising is wasteful advertising.

SOME OF the sympathy we offer to "perishing France" on her declining birth rate might be saved, for this country statistics show that the United States death rate is increasing, and the birth rate diminishing. A diminishing birth rate, plus cutting off immigration and the healthy blood that comes in with it, will make this country think hard, in a few years.

CHANGING values of European money make a difference to our manufacturers, and even more to England's big manufacturers. For instance, when the franc is low, French steel workers get no immediate raise in wages. But their product immediately costs the manufacturers much less and they can undersell England. What would happen to us, and our high priced dollar, if we had no protective tariff would be too shocking for contemplation. Luckily we can be self supporting selling to each other.

JURY AWARDS $47,387 AUTO LIGHT VERDICT

Suit Over Alleged Defective Reflectors Is Decided Against Manufacturing Firm

Lawrence, March 27.—A verdict for $47,387.12 against the Gray & Davis Co. of Cambridge and in favor of Frank and Howard Rand of Merrimac and Haverhill, was returned by an Essex County jury today.

The Rands marketed a reflector for automobile headlights. They gave the manufacturing contract to Gray & Davis. The Rands claimed that, through the failure of the Gray & Davis Co. to manufacture the reflectors according to specifications, many of the reflectors were returned and consequently the Rands, who put $20,000 in the venture, suffered great loss.

A cross suit in which the Gray & Davis company seeks to recover $7,000 from the Rands on an alleged note, is now before the court.

Pres. Coolidge Unweakened by Oil Probe, Says Hearst

Publisher Declares Partisan Attack on Chief Executive Has Recoiled Upon His Assailants.

Washington, March 27 (Universal Service).—William Randolph Hearst called on President Coolidge at the White House. He declined to discuss the subject matter of their conversation, but answered the following questions put to him by a group of reporters:

1.—"Will you discuss the statement of David Rockwell, McAdoo's manager, that you have an understanding with Brennan, Democratic leader in Illinois, whereby Brennan will deliver the Illinois delegation to you at the Democratic convention?"

"I have no arrangement, agreement, alliance or understanding of any kind with Mr. Brennan," Mr. Hearst said. "My papers in Chicago have supported the candidates of the Democratic party in Illinois, which Mr. Brennan heads, and it is possible that Mr. Brennan has a friendly feeling towards me or my papers.

"But he is in no way obligated to have such a feeling. I supported his candidates because they were good Democrats, and extremely worthy candidates and I think Mr. Brennan has done extremely well and wisely in nominating such candidates.

NEED GOOD LEADERS.

"As a result the Democratic party has been victorious in Illinois, and under similar conditions of good leadership and genuine Democracy it would be victorious everywhere."

2.—"Do you believe there is a genuine demand for a third party ticket, and is La Follette the logical leader of such a movement?"

"I have long believed that there was definite need for somebody to represent sincerely and adequately the Progressive sentiment of the vast majority of the citizens of the country," Mr. Hearst said.

"The Democratic party should represent that sentiment. That is its special and peculiar purpose. For that it was founded. When it honestly fulfills that purpose it is successful. When it fails short in this obligation it fails politically.

LA FOLLETTE HAS CHANCE.

"The Democratic party has almost ceased to exist in certain States, where it has allowed the Progressive wing of the Republican party to represent the popular, progressive sentiment of the community.

"Samuel J. Tilden expressed the idea in a few words. He said: 'The Democratic party succeeds when it has the courage to be Democratic.'

"If the Democratic party in the coming election should merely compete with the Republican party for the support of the reactionary interests, there would be a great demand for a third party, and I believe that Senator La Follette would lead it quite successfully."

3. "Have Mr. Coolidge's political prospects, in your opinion, been weakened by the attacks on the administration growing out of the revelations resulting from the Congressional investigations?"

COOLIDGE UNSCATHED

"I do not believe that President Coolidge's prospects have been weakened by the attacks on his administration, which are really attacks on the previous administration," Mr. Hearst said.

"They are to some extent attacks on President Coolidge's cabinet, but President Coolidge inherited his cabinet.

"And the attempts to use a purely innocent and personal telegram to Mr. McLean for purposes of partisan attack have rather strengthened President Coolidge and recoiled upon his assailants.

"I think the public rather logically argues: If that is all that can be done in an effort to discredit the President, he must be far above the malice of his opponents.

"Meanwhile, the President pursues his own way quietly, performing his duties and sincerely striving to satisfy the requirements of the public and of his own conscience.

McADOO NOT OUT.

"I think the people like President Coolidge and that they want to give him a fair chance. And I think that his opponents gain nothing by being obviously unfair to him."

4. "Do you still believe that Hiram Johnson will be a formidable contender for the Republican nomination?"

"I think Hiram Johnson is a great man and would be a great President," said Mr. Hearst. "But I do not know how formidable a contender he will be for the Republican nomination."

5. "Conceding that Mr. McAdoo is a forlorn hope, to what Democratic aspirant do you concede the best chance of getting the nomination?"

"I do not concede that Mr. McAdoo is a forlorn hope—I think he will go to the Democratic convention with greater support than any other single candidate," Mr. Hearst said.

"I think that if it had not been for the oil situation, Mr. McAdoo would surely have been nominated.

"He will still be strong before the convention, but if the oil situation is to be the chief issue of the campaign, it seems to me probable that the Democratic convention will nominate someone who will have more strength on that issue than Mr. McAdoo has—someone who can put up an offensive, not a defensive campaign.

"Personally I like Mr. McAdoo for his progressive qualities, but the convention is bound to consider the politics of the situation.

6. "Do you believe the Senate committee investigating Attorney General Daugherty has adduced any evidence that would justify President Coolidge's asking for Mr. Daugherty's resignation?"

UNFAIR TO DAUGHERTY.

"My whole contention in regard to Attorney General Daugherty is that he should not be sentenced before he is tried. Any man is entitled to a fair trial, and then to a judgment based upon the evidence.

"I do not know anything about Attorney General Daugherty's case except what I have seen of the testimony of certain people in the papers. But it sort of seems to me that when the prosecution depends so largely upon the testimony of indicted rascals and confessed prevaricators, there must be a certain dearth of reputable testimony.

"Perhaps more credible testimony will be adduced later. I think the public is waiting for that before they form a definite opinion."

LITTLE EVIDENCE OF VALUE.

7. "Proceedings looking to the criminal prosecution of the individuals who sought to exploit the naval oil reserves to the disadvantage of the government having been begun, do you believe there is any justification for the continued activities of the so-called oil committee, which now appears to be purely political?"

"I do not think the activities of the oil committee should be discontinued as long as there is a reasonable chance of getting any further evidence of value in the exposure of this oil corruption," Mr. Hearst said.

"But very little evidence of value has been secured of late, and the activities of the oil committee certainly should not go so far afield as to distract attention from the important matter in hand, which is the proper punishment of the proven guilty in this oil corruption."

Foresees Chance for Third Party, Led by LaFollette, in Coming Campaign for the Presidency.

I have long believed that there was definite need for somebody to represent sincerely and adequately the progressive sentiment of the vast majority of the citizenship of the country.

The Democratic party should represent that sentiment. That is its special and peculiar purpose. For that it was founded. When it honestly fulfills this purpose, it is successful. When it fails short in this obligation, it fails politically.

The Democratic Party has almost ceased to exist in certain States, where it has allowed the progressive wing of the Republican Party to represent the popular, progressive sentiment of the community.

—William R. Hearst.

KILLS BROTHER, PUTS BLOOD IN CUP AS PROOF

Creek Arrested, Carrying Evidence to Show Wife He Fulfilled His Threat

New York, March 27 (C.N.S.)—The brand of Cain is on Thomas Cevolas, thirty-seven-year-old Greek, of Long Island City, today, according to the police.

Cevolas was arrested while crossing the yard in the rear of the Union Coat and Apron Supply Company, with a cup of human blood in his hand.

Cevolas led the patrolman down into the cellar of the company's plant and pointed to the body of his brother, James, thirty-four.

The head of the younger brother, who owned the company, was crushed in and his throat was cut from ear to ear.

A package carried by the surviving brother, who lives at No. 4805 Bliss avenue, Long Island City, disclosed a blood-smeared wrench and a large carving knife. Detectives say Thomas confessed to the slaying.

Not a flicker of remorse shone in his eye as Thomas told the patrolman how he had murdered his brother.

"We started this laundry together," he told the patrolman. "Each put in $4,000 and then he took the business all for himself. He would give me nothing. I told my wife that I would get my money or his blood, and when he wouldn't give me my money I killed him.

"I was taking the blood home to my wife to prove to her that I had carried out my promise," he told the patrolman.

He was out of a job and desperate, he told the police. His brother had never made an attempt to pay him back the money he had invested in the laundry, he said.

ARSENAULT FREED IN MANSLAUGHTER CASE

Lowell, March 27.—Three counts of manslaughter in connection with a triple fatality in an auto crash last November, were dismissed today in district court against Leo D. Arsenault of Portland, Me. Arsenault was alleged to have been the driver of a coupe which crashed into an auto truck on the Middlesex road in Tyngsboro, killing one occupant instantly and fatally injuring two others.

Judge Fisher ruled that no evidence had been produced to show that Arsenault was driving the coupe at the time of the crash.

THREE HURT IN CRASH ARE HELD AS DRUNK

Three vegetable peddlers, one of them a former member of the Boston police force, were injured today when their wagon collided with a Chelsea street car.

Howard J. Pitts, thirty-four, of No. 218 Saratoga street, South Boston, one of the trio, served for a short time as a policeman at Station No. 2. With him in the accident were his brother, John E. Pitts, and Joseph J. Merrigan of No. 166 London street, East Boston. After the men's injuries were dressed at East Boston Relief Station, they were locked up on the charge of intoxication.

NEW SYSTEM AT CHILDREN'S HOSPITAL

Plan of Definite Appointments in Outpatient Department Does Away With Delays

The new system in operation in the out-patient department of the Children's Hospital, by means of which appointments may be made to see certain doctors at definite hours, is an exclusive feature of this institution.

The object of the system is to insure the least possible delay both to parents and child. It also gives the doctors time to treat all patients admitted, instead of handling as many as possible, and necessitating the disappointed ones come another day, as was done under the old number system.

Patients assigned to a doctor for the first time continue treatment under him unless designated to a special clinic out of his department.

Sometimes parents forget in keep their appointments. The doctor to whom the case was assigned on looking over his list, perhaps finds the child needed attention at a later than that day. He notifies the secretary who sends the mother a card, and if she fails to appear, a social worker calls at the home to ascertain the cause.

Dr. Harold C. Stewart is Chief-of Staff of the out-patient department. He is assisted by a number of Vincent Club girls under the direction of Miss Louise Fessenden, a member of the welfare committee of the hospital, whose chairman is Mrs. F. S. Mead.

Among the members of the Vincent Club serving in this capacity are the Misses Louise Fessenden Cornelia Hallowell, Dorothy Harris Marion Fenno, Helen Norton and Helen Page.

These volunteer positions are by no means limited to the members of this organization, and additional helpers are very much needed.

STUDENT GIVEN FAREWELL SENDOFF

A large number of friends and former classmates of Ignatius P. Donnelly, son of Mr. and Mrs. James J. Donnelly of No. 45 Lamson street East Boston, gave him a sendoff at the South Station today as he embarked for Baltimore to take up his studies for the priesthood. He will enter St. Charles' Seminary.

The young man graduated from the Assumption parochial school and the Boston College High School, after which he attended Boston College for three years, being forced to relinquish his studies on account of ill health. He spent a year in outdoor work and regained his health before deciding to study for the priesthood.

About People in and Around Bay State

JAMES J. PHELAN, Boston banker, cables home from Lugano, Switzerland, where Mrs. Phelan accompanies him: "All the Americans on this side with whom I have discussed the American political situation, express faith in Coolidge and full confidence in his high integrity and able leadership."

REV. DR. ROBERT WATSON, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Boston, preaching at the Lenten services in Keith's theatre, said: "The man who has got the significance of the Beatitudes recognizes at once that they are not only more important, but more imperative than the Ten Commandments."

HAROLD A. THURLOW, president of the Thurlow Advertising Service of Boston, speaking before the tenth annual convention of the Jewelers' Association of Massachusetts at the Copley-Plaza, advised: "Sell ideas and things will sell themselves. Your advertisements should be idea-makers to the prospective customer."

LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR ALVAN T. FULLER, declared at the annual meeting of the Boston League of Women Voters in the Twentieth Century Club: "What is particularly proved by current disclosures is the emphatic need that every good citizen shall take a militant position and demand that honesty control every political office in the country, whether elective or appointive."

DR. TEYHI HSIEH, head of the Boston Chinese Trade and Labor Bureau, told students of the Boston University Medical School: "China is destined to come before the nations of the world as an international problem and whether her development is toward good or bad depends on the leadership of the United States."

CHRISTOBEL PANKHURST, former militant suffragist, now an evangelist lecturer, before the Business Woman's Council of the Y. W. C. A. in the Park Street Church said: "I believe that it will not be safe for any nation to disarm, that there will not be a world order until the Prince of Peaces comes again."

STATE TREASURER JAMES JACKSON, in the Unitarian parish house, West Roxbury, refused to say why he believes himself a better fitted gubernatorial candidate than Lieutenant-Governor Fuller: "I don't believe in becoming egotistical in the campaign," said Jackson. "The best man will have a chance to win. And may the best man win."

ANDERSON MOPS PRISON AND EATS HASH

Ex-Dry Chief, Now Convict 75,745 at Sing Sing, Settles Down to Drab Existence

Ossining, N. Y., March 27.—This is the story of the second day in the life of the man who was William H. Anderson—now convict 75,745—a cog in the many sided machinery of life in Sing Sing.

William H. Anderson

Anderson is quartered in a windowless cell with a barred door on the lower tier of the four-tier system in what is known as the old cell block, in existence for over 100 years.

His day began at 6:30 a. m., when the harsh sound of the riding bell and the sharp command of the officer in charge rang along the corridor. Anderson dragged his long figure from between two heavy woolen blankets, which, with an old cotton mattress and excelsior pillow both canvas covered, compose his bedding.

Anderson is over six feet tall. The cell is six feet six inches long and three feet eight inches wide—just room to stand when the narrow steel bunk is down.

Anderson put his bunk and bedding away, as prescribed by prison regulations. He then washed in the tin bucket, which with an electric light rounds out the furnishings of the cell.

He dressed in rough grey trousers, heavy black socks and shoes, rough wool blouse and cap and at 7:30 went to breakfast.

On his right, it was said, a thief had slept during the night, a then convicted of assault at his left, he joined these and some fifty other convicts at breakfast, marching with them in two by two formation and taking his seat at a bare, rough wooden table.

No knives were on that table. The chinaware was of the roughest. The meal consisted of hash, bread and coffee.

After breakfast Anderson was put to mopping and otherwise policing up. He worked at this until 11:45. Then at 11:30 he had lunch, consisting of mutton stew, vegetables, bread and coffee.

Work was resumed a half hour later. At 4 o'clock supper was served. This consisted of hash, potatoes, bread and tea. At 4:30 Anderson was locked in his cell for the long night in the lonely cell.

BUS STRIKE MAY END WAR ORDER RETURN

London, March 27 (A.P.)—So seriously does the government regard the situation created by continuance of the tram and bus strike and the apparently inevitable entry of the railway men into the fight tomorrow night, that a Privy Council has been called for today to consider proclaiming a "condition of national emergency."

If it is proclaimed it will be under the provisions of the Emergency Powers Act of 1920, which, when invoked, confers upon the government virtually the same powers as the war-time defense of the Realm Act.

It enables the government, subject to the approval of parliament to take control of any public service, using army and navy lorries and commandeering private vehicles and materials.

NEW ALLOY TO SPEED CABLE MESSAGES

New York, March 27 (C.N.S.)—Permalloy, an alloy of 80 per cent. nickel and 20 per cent. iron, will provide an electrical conductor capable of speeding up transoceanic cable transmission many times, according to a statement today by Dr. H. D. Arnold and G. W. Elmen, research engineers, through the Engineering Foundation. The permalloy possesses remarkable magnetic properties at low magnetizing forces. It is by far the most easily magnetized and demagnetized of all metals now here.

THREE GIVEN YEAR ON AUTO THEFT CHARGE

Matthew Happanie, Edward McCluskidy and James Conway, South Boston men charged with larceny of an automobile from Peter Akunevich, South Boston undertaker, were each sentenced today to one year in the House of Correction by Judge Day in South Boston Court. They appealed and were held in $2,000 each for the grand jury.

Their arrest came when Akunevich's car, in which they are alleged to have been riding, collided with the Elevated structure on Washington street.

My Experience is that
DR. CALDWELL'S
SYRUP PEPSIN
Is just what you need

This Will Make Digestion Easy

WHAT the dyspeptic needs is not soda and charcoal and breath perfumes but a medicine that will help his bowels to move regularly, for dyspepsia and constipation are allied. If you will take Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin systematically as the directions on the package call for you will soon digest your food properly and pass it out normally, and heartburn, belching, dizziness, nervousness and bloating will vanish. In time you can dispense with all medicines as Syrup Pepsin will have exercised the intestinal and stomach muscles so they act for themselves. Mr. Lewis F. Schultz of Reasnor, Ia., Mrs. Victor Knodler of 3625 Bank St., Louisville, Ky., and hosts of others will verify this.

World Acclaims Success

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is the prescription of a well-known physician of that name who practised successfully for 47 years. It has been on the market thirty years and is today the largest selling liquid laxative in the world. Thousands of families have it in their medicine chest ready when anymembershowsigns of dyspepsia, constipation, torpid liver, sour stomach, biliousness, coated tongue, offensive breath, headaches and such ailments that indicate deranged stomach and bowels. Many serious diseases are prevented by this timely aid.

Formula Plainly Stated

Have no hesitancy giving Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin to anyone young or old. It is a mild, gentle laxative free from narcotics. It will not cramp or gripe. The formula is on the package, a compound of Egyptian senna with pepsin and simple aromatics. A bottle can be had at any drug store and averages less than a cent a dose. Economical for families and fully guaranteed. You will find it a great improvement in taste and action over castor oil, or "candy cathartics" made from coal-tar that cause skin diseases, calomel that loosens the teeth, salts in water or powder that concentrate the blood and dry the skin.

AGED COUPLES CARED FOR, SAY WITNESSES

Eviction of Complaining Man and Wife, Predicted by Home's "Manager"

The eviction of two complaining inmates, man and wife, from the Home of Aged Couples in Roxbury, is predicted by Frank S. Pearson, former cabdriver, who virtually manages the institution.

Pearson declares that Walter E. Bruce and Mrs. Addie Bruce, who have filed charges with the Supreme Court and with trustees of the home, will eventually be compelled to depart.

Cruelty to two aged women inmates, unclean bed linen and poor quality of food are things Bruce has complained about to the trustees, it was revealed for the first time during the questioning of witnesses by a board composed of seven trustees.

Testimony was taken in regard to charges that Mrs. Alice E. Gibbs, an eighty-four-year-old inmate, fell, fractured her hip and lay without proper medical attendance for three days. She died.

NURSE TELLS STORY.

Another woman, Mrs. A. D. MacLean, it was alleged, fell out of bed and lay all night on the floor unaided and unable to pick herself up.

A nurse, Mrs. Agnes MacKenzie, testified that Mrs. Gibbs was properly cared for. In regard to Mrs. MacLean, she said:

"Why, she was a good old soul who lost her mind. She was always springing out of bed and giving us trouble. She died peacefully."

Bruce, a seventy-eight-year-old ex-police sergeant of Boston, who exhibits testimonials from police officials asserting he "never smoked or drank" while on the force, asks the removal of Pearson, of Dr. Elizabeth Abbott Curleton, the nominal head of the home, and of the trustees.

All the witnesses examined by the board told things derogatory to Bruce, and in praise of Pearson and the institution. The board was composed of Daniel Bradford Badger, chairman; Hermann F. Clarke, Lester M. Bacon, Ashton L. Carr, Arthur H. Dumon, Rev. Arthur T. Brooks of the Dudley Street Baptist Church, Rev. Benjamin A. Willmott of the Eliot Congregational Church.

Not An Argument Against Raising P. O. Pay

Letter carriers require years of training before they reach the peak of efficiency required by the government. And yet the government pays them a salary incommensurate with the requirements of their work and the cost of living. A bill now before Congress would raise their salaries from $1800 to $2400 a year.

W. H. Lowney

A typical instance of the injustice of the government is the case of W. H. Lowney, a letter carrier attached to the Central Post Office. He carries mail in the Old South Building. He is the father of five children. It has taken him 29 years to reach his present grade of salary at $1800 a year.

YOUNG BRIDE IN ATTEMPT AT SUICIDE

Drinks Poison in Phone Booth of Somerville Drugstore and Causes Panic

Three young men and a like number of young women were being served at the soda fountain in White's drug store, No. 44 Union square, Somerville, when a fourth girl ran screaming from one of the telephone booths and pushing her way to the marble counter balanced herself against it and moaned.

"Some water, quick! For God's sake give me some water!"

The clerk hurriedly filled a glass with cold water, but before he could give it to her the girl fell in a heap on the floor.

The girls of the soda-drinking party and several other women customers ran screaming into the street.

Policemen were called and after first aid had been administered the young woman was removed to Somerville Hospital, where physicians said she appeared to be suffering from iodine poisoning.

"My name is Helen York, Mrs. Helen York," she said, "of No. 5 Warren avenue. Please let me die. I am tired."

Then she wept, and hospital attendants could learn no more from her.

Search of the telephone booth at the pharmacy revealed a small phial marked "Poison! Iodine" which had been drained of its contents. The label bears the name of a neighborhood drug store other than White's.

Inquiry by the police is said to have revealed that Mrs. York is a bride of only a few weeks. Her act may be explained, the police say, by the fact that her young husband is in New Hampshire.

BEWARE OF INDICAN!

the poison sign of constipation, warn health authorities — what to do.

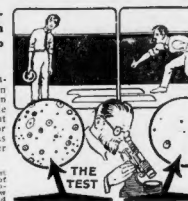
THE danger of constipation is its poison, warn physicians. This poison is pumped into every little muscle and every little joint in your body. Beware! for it has the same effect as Carbolic Acid or any other poison.

Do you dare to make a test to prove this? Three out of four constipated men and women under such a test show the presence of INDICAN, and Indican is the sign doctors look for to find out if your blood is poisoned.

Carter's Little Liver Pills, unlike ordinary laxatives, not only "physic" the stomach, liver and intestines quickly, but also drive the INDICAN away.

Make This Test: Have analysis made of your spectacles and if the chemist reports the presence of INDICAN—or if you can "feel" how poisoned you are because of bad stomach, no appetite, foul breath and sour taste—immediately start taking Carter's Little Liver Pills. Next have another test made and see how the INDICAN disappears. Now your clear, bright complexion, free from pimples and blackheads comes back—you can EAT like a hearty meal and your head is clear as a bell.

Note: Carter's Little Liver Pills used for 47 years by millions of people all over the world, is a purely vegetable preparation and contains no drugs of any nature. It therefore acts in a natural way and is non-habit forming. Money refunded if results are not satisfactory.



Is it constipation that weakens your physical power? INDICAN indicates the poison of constipation without purging—ask your doctor.

Same person after taking Carter's Little Liver Pills for only a few days—note the clean, normal specimen—FREE FROM INDICAN.

JOHNSON RAPS PLOT TO "BUY ELECTION"

Flays the "Shameless Use of Money" in So. Dakota; Leads Coolidge by 394 Votes

Sioux Falls, S. D., March 27.—Senator Johnson today drew away slightly from President Coolidge in the close race for South Dakota's presidential indorsement and with reports of additional precincts increased his lead over the President to 394. The vote from 1,310 precincts stood: Johnson, 36,217; Coolidge, 35,823.

St. Louis, March 27.—Senator Hiram Johnson of California, in a statement here today, commenting on the South Dakota presidential preference primary, charged that "if ever an effort was made to buy an election, it has been done in that State.

"In the fight in South Dakota, the most reckless and shameless use of money was made by the President," said Senator Johnson, "not only in hiring an army of orators, but in buying full page advertisements in every paper in South Dakota and in utilising circulation without stint."

"Unemployment of politicians gave way to most industrious employment at very high salaries. There was no purchasable element which was not purchased, and the result is the largest tribute that can be paid to a citizenship. For if ever an attempt was made to buy a citizenship, it was made in South Dakota.

"If I win out there, it will be a marvelous demonstration of how the people of the West feel toward Mr. Coolidge."

RAIDERS SMASH DOWN DOOR OF POOL ROOM

Watch and Ward Visits Alleged Ring Headquarters in Springfield

Springfield, March 27.—Agents of the Watch and Ward Society and vice squad of the Springfield police smashed their way into the headquarters of race-track gambling in western Massachusetts and confiscated two truck loads of poolroom paraphernalia.

A warrant was issued for William H. Cone, declared to be the head of Springfield's gambling ring.

The entrance to Cone's offices, in the former Carleton House at Nos. 11 and 11½ Hampden street, was broken down with a 16-lb. sledge hammer, the raiders being held back just long enough to permit of the escape of alleged patrons of the establishment through rear windows.

Cone was missing, the visitors finding only one man and a woman on the premises. The woman is said to be Mrs. Wilkinson, widow of Cone's former alleged partner.

HEARD RACE RESULTS.

J. Frank Chase, Watch and Ward Society head, leading the raid, reached Cone's desk just as a ring was heard at one of three unlisted telephones. Chase removed the receiver in time to hear someone say:

"First, Tia Juana; Edmond wins; Dixie Boy second, Chula Vista third."

Secretary Chase brought with him from Boston his field deputy, Wellman Y. Taylor, and two agents whose names they declined to divulge. The men are said to be those who cleaned out another big Springfield poolroom last August and who recently uncovered an alleged fake "Canadian" lottery in Acton.

Immediately on reaching Springfield the Watch and Ward representatives were joined by Sergeant Blodgett and both sections of the local vice squad, a total of ten men.

WEEK'S PROFIT $1,190.

"According to his books" Agent Chase of the Watch & Ward Society said, "this man Cone in one recent week cleared a net profit of $1,190."

The warrant against Cone charges him with making use of the premises for the purpose of making, taking or recording bets on the comparative skill or speed of man or beast.

POLICEMAN HEARD ON NEGLECT OF DUTY

At a public hearing Police Commissioner Herbert A. Wilson has heard evidence on charges of neglect of duty by Patrolman James R. Connaughton of Joy street station, who was dismissed from the force after a trial before three police captains. Connaughton, it was alleged, failed to ring in a box call, and upon investigation his superiors found him at home under the influence of liquor. Connaughton appealed from the finding of the trial board and under the State law was granted a hearing before Commissioner Wilson, who will render a decision later.

Not infrequently she's a combination of private secretary, reception committee and traffic manager of your telephone business.

The personality of your business or profession is reflected in the manner she receives calls made for you.

Her intelligence in routing toll calls made by you or your business associates enables her to save you time and money.

She doubtless knows all about "person-to-person" and "station-to-station" calls; she probably knows of our fast number toll service to points within a fifty or sixty mile radius.

If by any chance she is not fully posted on this service—assuming that you are located in Greater Boston—ask her to call Toll Business Bureau, Congress 9900, for complete information.

The Premier Credit Organization of America

Is In Complete Readiness For The Spring Season

Although the past year was by far the greatest in our history, it is our intention to make 1924 an even bigger year. All the efforts of our efficient organization have been directed toward that end, and we face 1924 firm in the belief that the leadership which we have acquired during our twenty-seven years in business will be even better established this coming year, and we invite all to make use of the

The Remarkable Features Which Have Made Us Pre-eminent In Our Field.

The Famous Order Check

Positively the most economical form of credit buying ever conceived. Accepted by the big cash stores exactly the same as cash, it has paved the way for the salaried man or woman to make use of credit under exactly the same conditions as a cash customer or one with a big store charge account. Good for anything and everything (except foodstuffs) at any kind of a store, including the big department stores and specialty shops, the Order Check has proved to be by far the most startling innovation ever introduced into the credit field by this wonderful organization in that it gives the credit customer every advantage of the cash purchaser at payments as low as $1.00 a week and allows unlimited selection from the combined stocks of the leading stores of this city.

Our Most Beautiful Department of Women's Apparel

Every single piece of merchandise in this most luxurious department has been purchased brand new in the past few weeks. Absolutely nothing has been carried over from last season, as our large chain of cash stores enables us to dispose of all the past season's garments. Women will find here only the very newest garments, correctly styled, from the very finest makers at prices which we guarantee in no case are higher than the best cash stores; in many cases they are lower.

Standard Brands of Men's Clothing

Once again we have renewed our agreement with leading makers of men's clothes to sell their Standard Brands on credit at exactly the same prices as the best cash clothing stores—not one cent more. We are the only credit establishment in New England which carries these nationally advertised Standard Brands and each Brand is a leader in its respective class. Nowhere can better clothes be bought nor does any department store or high class men's shop carry any brands superior to ours.

And One More Additional Service for Our Customers

New Department for Boys

Everything for boys—Clothing, furnishings, hats, caps, shoes, etc. This handsome new department has been opened in response to many requests of our regular patrons. As we operate cash stores which include boys' departments, we possess tremendous purchasing power which enables us to sell at prices as low as the best cash stores.

TWIN SESSIONS DAILY THE PROGRAM AT BRAVES CAMP

BIG DRIVE NOW ON AT CAMPS

By NICK FLATLEY.

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 26.—Perfect baseball weather has filled Manager Dave Bancroft with ambition, and he has his athletes out working twice per day now.

He will rush the boys next week, also figuring it isn't going to do anybody any harm. Dave will call a halt if a lot of heat arrives, but in the present brisk and balmy breezes the brakes are off.

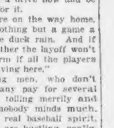
"Everybody," Dave announces, "has had a lot of exercise down here—not too much to get tired, enough to get all the muscles in shape. The boys can stand a drive now and be all the better for it.

"When we are on the way home, there will be nothing but a game a day, even if we duck rain. And if we hit bad weather the layoff won't do a bit of harm if all the players are in shape leaving here."

So the young men, who don't start drawing any pay for several weeks yet, are toiling merrily and earnestly and nobody minds much. The squad has real baseball spirit, as the veterans are hustling, realizing that things must look up in the rapidly approaching campaign.

Jack Kelleher, the latest to join the list of cold victims, spent a day in bed, but was around in much better trim today than he has been for a week.

The Florida cold is enervating, and it takes the subjects quite a while to recover the well-known natural pepper.



Emmerich

Charlie Barnes, brother of Jess, the baby pitcher of baseball, is cheering because he has finally seized a very stubborn assault of this malady.

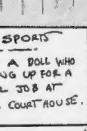
One slight injury marred a snappy eight inning practice spasm which concluded the Wednesday doings.

Eddie Phillips of Boston College stuck a digit into a foul tip, and split his finger a bit. He quit like a fray for posting up reasons, but the wound was very slight and Edward will be around the pasture with his customary earnestness.

He keeps making a very fine impression, and the word has gone around Florida that he looks good. Several of the association brand training here have put in bids for him, and a couple of the major associations would like to pick him up.

Branch Rickey, who is broadcasting for a backstop, wanted Eddie, but wasn't willing to give anything for him.

The Braves had a game today with the St. Pete team of the Florida League. It promised to be quite a gala local occasion, as the festival of States is being held here this week. And the population of Florida is among those present.



Joe Genewich

Larry Benton, whose arm has recovered from a slight soreness, was billed to get a workout against the Spiders, as they call them.

The Cardinals play here to-morrow.

TANSEY NORTON WILL BATTLE YOUNG ERNE

Tansey Norton, who expects to box Eddie Shevlin next month, has been matched to box George "Young" Erne, the Junior welterweight champion of New Jersey, at the opening show of the Boilermne at Bangor, Me., March 31. They will go over the double six round route.

Steve O'Neill

Fohl Declares O'Neill Makes Red Sox

By FRED C. LANE

San Antonio, Tex., March 27.—"This Speaker can say what he wants about the Cleveland deal with Boston, but it gave the Red Sox the break, in the catching department, at least, not to speak of Wamby at second base," declares Lee Fohl.

"Backstop O'Neill is giving his all to condition himself for the Red Sox campaign in the Ban Johnson circuit and makes it plain he will show those who predicted a short career for him in a Red Sox uniform that they were ridiculous.

"He is just what is needed to make the team complete," says Fohl. "We have a flock of young pitchers who did well last season, but will do better with Steve behind the bat.

"Unless he is injured, I plan to use O'Neill behind the bat every day, and should the unexpected happen I have a very reliable pair of substitutes in Picinich and Jack Heving.

"Both are well able to do themselves justice with the bat and it has been my ambition to get a flock of sturdy batsmen." You know what happened to Boston last season.

Had they hit when they had the opportunity they would not have been down in the cellar.

O'Neill has worn a rubber shirt for three days to reduce to weight. Adipose tissue has been a great difficulty in other seasons and seems to be so again this year.

The former Clevelander hits in his old style and wears a smile. He is content to play with the Red Sox and looks forward to a big change in the American League race.

The Red Sox delivered the punch when it meant runs and scored an 8 to 4 victory over San Antonio in their fifth exhibition game. The Bears jumped into a three-run lead early in the contest, but it was shortlived when the scarlet hosed athletes went to work with their bats.

Manager Fohl used Ruffing and Ulrich, fresh from the miners against Bob Coleman's team and both showed enough ability to remain with the team for the barnstorming trip.

Ruffing twirled the first four innings and allowed five hits which gave three runs.

Ulrich hurled for the other five innings and allowed four hits and three tallies.

Joe Harris is king of the Red Sox batters. He tripled and singled in four trips to the plate, stole a base and scored the first run. His shoulder has rounded into shape and Joe socks the ball with the vim that put him in the .309 class last year.

Howard Ehmke and Bill Piercy were in uniform and worked out for three hours before the game. Ehmke still favors his injured ankle. Piercy's arm has responded to treatment and it need not be a surprise if Fohl sends him tl the mound Saturday or Sunday.

Lauzon Beats Jordan

"Del" Lauzon of Lynn was the winner in the New England pocket billiard championship at the Hotel Theatre Club. He defeated Fred Jordan of Boston, 125 to 96. Each had a high run of fourteen.

In a rapid fire three cushion match Charles Seeback conceded several opponents a liberal handicap and was the winner.

Tonight in the pocket billiard championship James Hall will play Lauzon.

Tickets will be mailed to the winners shortly. Please do not call at the office for tickets, as none will be given.

Those who guessed the correct title to a Braves player will receive a ticket to the Braves first home game.

Absolutely no change will be made in the above ruling.

"HUNCHY" BEALE TO BATTLE MINEHAN

Fitton Council, K. C., will hold its next amateur boxing tournament Monday night in Columbus Hall, East Boston. The 126 and 147 pound classes will be featured. Again "Hunchy" Beale, pride of East Boston and Joe Minehan, Charlestown idol, are among the entrants in the 147 pound class.

The east with which Hunchy defeated Al Mello, who is considered some pumpkins in the 126-pound class, at the last show, makes East Boston fans believe that he is the best 147 pounder in the country.

Competition will be held in five classes, 112, 118, 135 pounds, novice, 126, 147 pounds open. Entries close Saturday with Tommy Regan, No. 36 Neptune road, East Boston.

CHARLEY MANTY IS WINNER OVER McADAM

Providence, March 27.—Mick McAdam, featherweight champion of Scotland, lost a close 12-round decision to Charley Manty of New Bedford.

It was the sturdy Scotsman's initial appearance on these shores, and he put up a brilliant battle from the clang of the gong to the finish, Manty's aggressiveness, and tactics brought him a hard-fought decision.

Harry Foley of Boston was awarded the decision over Young Johnny Wilson of New Bedford.

PIRATES TAKE FIRST TITLE HOCKEY TILT

Pittsburgh defeated the B. A. A. in the first game of the series for the national amateur hockey championship of the United States, before a capacity house at the Arena, 3 to 2.

The game was delayed at the start by the Yellow Jackets. The Smoky City team players found fault with the lighting system at the rink and had the game delayed another ten minutes. However, they rallied to get action in a hurry and the play was started with a dark shadow at the extreme end of the rink.

Lionel Conacher

Pittsburgh was led by Captain Lionel Conacher, Harold Cotton was centre ice, McKinnon and "Duke" McCurry wings, Smith and Conacher at defence, Ray Waters, one of the best and coolest custodians of the nets ever to play here in goal, and Herb Drury, of the American Olympic team, Paddy Sullivan and Dinny Manners as reserves.

At the first face-off Cronin snatched the disc and started down centre ice only to be checked by Conacher, who took the puck back to the B. A. A. territory and missed the net by inches. That was followed by spectacular long shots by several of the Pittsburgh team.

Tubber Cronin carried the puck almost to the goal and drew Waters out of the cage, but he managed to stop the stiff shot directed at him by the B. A. A. star.

Tubber Cronin

Drury and Sullivan of the Pittsburgh second line who went in and scored a neat counter. Cronin had a scrimmage in centre for the rubber and Geran did some wonderful stick handling. Small carried the puck down to the visitors' defense but Roger Smith tripped him and arrested a score.

In the period, Tubber Cronin was the star. Nickie had eight stops, against six for Waters.

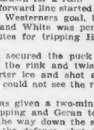
In the second stanza after brilliant work the Pittsburgh second line forwards again were sent on the ice. Drury got the puck at centre ice, carried it down and shot the first goal of the game. Just after Cronin had been withdrawn for a rest.

The Boston forward line started an attack on the Westerners goal, but were stopped and White was penalized two minutes for tripping Harrington.

Drury again secured the puck in the middle of the rink and twisted about at quarter ice and shot and scored. Nickie could not see the rubber.

Conacher was given a two-minute lay-off for tripping and Geran took the puck all the way down the surface through the defense, shot and scooped up the rebound into the net for the first Boston goal, just before time was called. Nickie was busy with ten stops and Waters eight.

The third period started with Conacher in the penalty box, and Pittsburgh stalled behind their own goal, while their captain did time.



Harold Catton

Conacher marked his return to the game with a terrific drive from centre ice that Nickie could not save. It was the third Pittsburgh counter.

TUFTS CANDIDATES WORK ON THE OVAL

On account of a high east wind the twirlers worked only for a short time.

CRIMSON CREWS WILL ROW ON SCHUYLKILL

Two Harvard crews will make a Spring training trip to Philadelphia to practice on the waters of the Schuylkill. The plan marks a distinct innovation in crew training policies at Harvard and is in step with the new system which characterizes the development of Harvard rowing.

Coach Stevens

The trip will take place during the Spring recess, from April 12 to April 21. The first and second varsity crews will make the trip. Coach Stephens, a manager and boatbuilder will accompany the squad.

Headquarters will be established at the Philadelphia Country Club and the Green Hill Farms.

No race has been planned with other opponents. The trip will be made because the rough water on the Charles River has made real practice impossible. It is the belief of Coach Stevens that the smoother waters of the Schuylkill will enable practice to proceed more rapidly.

The squad now numbers the three crews which took to the water a couple of weeks ago. No radical changes have been made. It is expected, however, that one of the three crews will be dropped before the recess and relegated to the flotilla of class crews.

BIG ENTRY LIST FOR ST. JOSEPH'S SHOW

In an effort to bring out another crop of amateur ring stars, the St. Joseph's T. A. S. will stage four novice classes at its tournament to be held at Commercial Hall, Bowdoin Square, tomorrow night.

President W. H. Cuddy desires to bring out some new boys in the 160 lbs. division. This is the weakest class in the New England district and ambition's boys have a good chance to win berths for the Olympic trip. The other novice classes will be at 118, 126 and 135 lbs.

Two open classes also are on the card. They are 108 and 147 lbs. and all the stars will compete in the competitions in these classes.

Judging by the large entry list already received, there will be plenty of action. Entries can be filed today with W. H. Cuddy, No. 95 Cambridge street.

CORBETT READY TO BOX WITH WILLIAMS

Eddie Williams, the East Boston K. O. artist, has not taken part in a contest for seven months, and desires to get started, but the local promoters are putting a very serious obstacle in his way, when they mention the name of Willie Corbett, the Harvard law student. Willie will pass up a few of his lectures to give Williams another boxing lesson.

Drew Will Fight Chapman

As Red Chapman has come out of retirement, he can get some real money if he accepts a match with Johnny Drew, as two of the local promoters desire to promote that contest.

KOTSONAROS AND TARAMASCHI FIT FOR BATTLE TONIGHT

MAT STARS IN FINISH TUSSLE

By JACK CONWAY

George Kotsonaros, Greek heavyweight wrestling champion, and Angelo Taramaschi, Italian title holder, are eagerly waiting for the word of the referee which will send them into action in their finish wrestling bout, best two falls out of three, at the Old Howard's show at the Grand Opera House tonight.

The rivals are in the best possible physical condition and prepared to set a torrid pace.

The reports early this week to the effect that Kotsonaros was obliged to withdraw from a bout on account of boils are untrue. This writer saw Kotsonaros work out at a local gym yesterday and the Greek gave a brilliant exhibition of grappling.

KOTSONAROS IN PERFECT CONDITION FOR BOUT.

"I have prepared myself carefully for Taramaschi," said Kotsonaros "He is much tougher than George Chin and other Italian wrestlers and so I must by at my best to gain the victory.

"The only reason why I didn't go through with my recent match with Vadalfi was because the promoters failed to keep their agreement with me. I was not ill as was announced. I was on the scene of the conflict and would have wrestled if the promoters had kept their agreement with me."

Kotsonaros will have to display amazing form to win over Taramaschi. The latter is one of the strongest men in them at game. He has also shown great improvement with each start.

When Kotsonaros and Taramaschi last met, each scored a fall after which the Greek got a lucky "break" that gave him the margin of victory. Then, too, the first fall for Kotsonaros was given to him by the referee when Taramaschi refused to release a strenuous hold.

John Kilonis and Jack Albright will furnish the thrills in another finish bout, while Sarge Scelzo and Nick Boanes will also give the fans plenty of action.

We are picking Taramaschi, Albright and Boanes to win.

Nate Siegal, former New England welterweight champion, will have to step lively when he clashes with Bob Lowry, Scottish welterweight, in a ten-round bout at the Armory A. A.'s show at the Grand Opera House on Tuesday night. Segal is in the midst of a gay come-back drive. He has beaten Joe Pangrazio, Felix King and Johnny Attia. Many of the fans who recently saw Lawry win over Al Sears of East Boston are of the opinion that Siegal is liable to receive a setback on Tuesday night. In the event that Nate wins, the chances are he won't count with a kayo. Lowry is one of those tough birds like Young Kisby.

Jeff Smith of Bayonne, N. J., who has wins to his credit over most of our middleweights and light-heavyweights, may go into business in Boston. In such an event, he will make his home here and make frequent appearances in bouts at local clubs. Smith is willing to tackle Jock Malone, Johnny Wilson, Jack Delaney or any other middleweight.

BERT HARRIS TO SHOW IN A LOCAL RING

Bert Harris, Canadian 126 pounder, made a hit with those fans who saw him in a workout at a local gym. He is one of the best of the Canadian boxers and will probably be seen here within a few weeks.

WALKER HEARTBROKEN BY MANAGER'S DEATH

Loyalty and devotion to his friends have been two outstanding features of the character of Mickey Walker, welterweight champion. Today Walker is heartbroken as a result of the death of Jack Bulger, his manager, who will be buried from his home in Newark, N. J., tomorrow, a victim of peritonitis following an operation for acute appendicitis.

The first was obtained with a head scissors and arm lock in 9 minutes and 25 seconds.

Allen Eustace won from Joe Alvares in the semi-final one-fall match. An arm grapevine in 17 minutes 50 seconds did it.

Irish Patsy McCarthy and Charley Marshall wrestled 20 minutes without a fall and the contest was declared a draw.

Promoter Tuohey will hold another show on April 7 and Eustace will go against John Penak in the main bout.

NORTHEASTERN HAS OUTDOOR WORKOUT

Those out for the nine at Northeastern Engineering School must "get on their mule" for the next ten days if they happen to get in the first game, Coach Rufus Bond told his men when the first regular outdoor workout was held at the Walpole street grounds.

A game with Tufts at Medford will open the season for Northeastern on April 12.

Battery practice, which began in the Commonwealth Armory three weeks ago, called out a dozen men for the mound and back-stop positions, but only three veterans were back.

Sixty men, including a long list of freshmen who played good games with their high school teams last year, were out for the first outdoor workout.

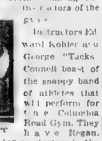
INDOOR BOSTON GYM MEET ON FRIDAY

Boston will look with interest as the athletes of the City of Boston compete on the track at Curtis Hall Gymnasium, Jamaica Plain, at the Park Department officials stage their final indoor track meet tomorrow at 8 p. m.

Come to one hundred young men who won places in the William P. Long cup series started back in December will be seeking points in the six events. The silver loving cup is awarded to the individual who scores the most points.

Boys in the various events show that the young athletes who have been training in the gym are fast. There is keen rivalry among the contestants in the various events.



Edward Kobler

Instructors Edward Kobler and George "Tacks" Connell boast of the snappy band of athletes that will perform for the Columbian Road Gym. They have Regan, Kelly and Rossiter as starters in the 1,000 yards, against Foley of Vine Street; Walsh of Brookline Street; Davidson, Costello and Conroy of Roslindale, while Curtis Hall will depend on John Short and Farrell.

Twenty-one lads are down for the 25-yard dash and all have class.

Because of the keen interest in the relay Deputy Park Commissioner William P. Long in charge, while Commissioner James R. Shea is out of the city, conferred with Mayor Curley, who agreed to give an extra set of prizes for the event. So the teams that finish first and second will take home handsome prizes.

LANE OF NASHUA TO SUCCEED BILL ROPER

Nashua, N. H., March 27.—A Nashua boy, Edward Lane Shea, who played football at Princeton in 1914, 1915 and 1916, may succeed Bill Roper as head coach of the Princeton football team, when Roper finishes with Old Nashua next Fall.

Shea is the son of James H. Shea of No. 90 Palm street, graduate of the Nashua High, class of 1911, a star on the baseball and football teams, went to Exeter a year and then to Princeton, and was in the class of 1916. He was a star end of the varsity team there for three years, an outstanding figure both in baseball and football.

During the war he was a Naval airman with the rank of ensign, and was stationed at San Diego, Cal. He is now assistant to the president of a New York oil concern.

PURPLE'S FRESHMAN STAR OUT FOR NINE

Worcester, March 27.—Billy Wise made both the football and basketball teams in his freshman year and has now turned his attention to baseball and gives a lot of promise.

Wise comes to Holy Cross from Framingham High School, where he was a four letter man. He competed on the high school football, basketball, baseball and track teams.

In baseball Wise played for years and alternated at third base and shortstop. Last year he batted for .485 in more than twenty games.

WORCESTER TO BATTLE BOYS' CLUB FIVE

Two of the greatest rivals among boys' clubs of New England will clash Saturday night when the Boys Club of Boston meets the Worcester Boys' Club at Charlestown in a game of basketball.

Worcester has one of the fastest amateur teams in New England and is one of the few that has defeated the local quintet this year. The set back occurred at Worcester by the score of 24 to 18.

The game is the last contest of the Boston teams schedule and they are determined to close their season with a win and so even matters with their rivals from out of town who established an enviable record winning all their games except one.

In the Worcester lineup are Kasper, Foley and Tisdale—three of the fastest playing the forward positions in that part of the country. The Boston team will rely upon their regular team of John Carven, Will Geary, Bill Kilduff, forwards Johnny Ross, "Tick" Gleason, Warren MacCulla, backs and George Kearney and Tim Brady, centers.

At other games will bring the Mildred City Club and the Boys' Club Orioles together for the third and deciding game of their series—each team having won a game. Elks of Malden and Joseph Leahy and Ralph Grimara of Boston are travelling on high for their respective teams.

The Shamrock Midgets and the Winthrop Bears will meet in their second game of the year. The first resulted in a victory of 25 to 19 for the Shamrock Boys. The Midgets expect to take the team from Winthrop this time again.

TWIN BILL FOR BASKETBALL

Tonight at Mechanics Building the world champion original Celtic basketball team make their only Boston appearance of 1924 against the Providence Steamrollers in the fourth game of a double-header.

In the other game the St. Mary's A. A. of Charlestown will meet a long standing feud with the Jackson Young Men's Hebrew Association.

The Nationals will introduce "Dutch" Gunther, "Whitey" Beck and Wally Banks to pair against the Celtic's Joe Lydon, Johnny Beckman, Nat Holman and "Spider" Loppehi.

Cardinal O'Connell was given a warm welcome by a distinguished delegation of clergy and laymen from Greater Boston. Mayor Curley, accompanied by Mrs. Curley, came to [illegible] and the official [illegible] of the [illegible] The Cardinal received a long line of admirers in a large state room on B deck.

The Franconia docked at Cunard pier at the foot of Fourth street at 9:45. As the ship steamed up the river she was in holiday dress. Pennants snapped from stem to stern, as the steamship warped her moorings the passengers let loose a flood of confetti and paper streamers.

As the ship's band and orchestra played.

Hundreds of friends of the passengers on the Franconia, which had been on a world tour since November, cheered and waved madly, the members of the Boston delegation among them.

While the Cardinal stood with Mayor and Mrs. Curley and the Boston delegation to be photographed he remarked:

"Mr. Mayor I wish to say that the people of Boston have every reason to be proud of their city. The fame of our city is known in every port abroad. I might add also that the Catholics of Europe are extremely proud of the Catholics of America."

Monsignors M J Splaine and Richard Haberlin, the latter secretary to the Cardinal, who made the trip with him, looked as fit as he and were showered with greetings.

He sketched the purpose of his pilgrimage and the shrines and other historic places visited. He made a [illegible] plea for practical preservation of the [illegible] and [illegible] placed in the Holy Land and expressed a hope that the traditional reverence in which they have been held for centuries will not be weakened by disturbed conditions.

"KEEP PALESTINE HOLY."

"The one thing I dread is any movement from any quarter that might tend to diminish the great reverence which has been felt through all ages for Palestine as the Holy Land," said the Cardinal.

"The great purpose of any government holding the mandate and authority is to see that it remains a and really holy and not allow the [illegible] influences to dominate it and destroy its traditional sacredness."

Cardinal O'Connell returned with the golden decoration of the Knights of the Holy Sepulchre, and Monsignors Splaine and Haberlin as Knights Commanders of the Holy Sepulchre. These honors were bestowed by the Latin Patriarch in Jerusalem.

Cardinal O'Connell spoke of the marked attention and hospitality of the Patriarch and proudly referred to the fact that Old Glory was flung to the breeze for the first time in history from the staff of the Patriarch's castle in honor of the first visit of an American cardinal.

"Do you think a visit to those holy places, your eminence, by some of the people who disbelieve in the virgin birth might affect their views?" the Cardinal was asked.

"I can't see how they would help seeing the absolute error and falsity of their point of view," said he. "I can't be too emphatic on that. There is the holy city of Nazareth in which the Blessed Virgin lived and in which she received the annunciation of the angel Gabriel."

PROOF OF VIRGINITY.

"In that village the tradition is perpetual that the mother of Christ was a virgin. How can they accept the scripture at all on any other ground? I am not talking savagely, mind you, but I think they have been misled.

"The fact is that from the beginning Christianity has preserved in violate this traditional security and certainty. It is not an opinion that Jesus Christ was the Son of the Virgin Mary. The gospel itself is perfectly clear in the matter. Now it is a new thing for Protestantism, which has always made the pretense of at least being the Christians of all Christians who followed the literal interpretations of the gospel. It is a new position for them to take, to destroy the very underpinning on which the gospel rests.

"The dispute only solidifies the Catholic position which is that the voice of the living church, instituted by Christ to mankind in the truths of His revelation and to preserve intact the unity of His faith is the only standard upon which Christendom can rest."

America's Power for Good Recognized by Pope

"AMERICA is the leader of the world today and whatever concerns America or Americans is a matter of outstanding interest throughout the world. His Holiness, the Pope, told me—and I do not feel I am out of order in saying so—that he rose above personal consideration in the selection of the two American cardinals as a recognition of the power for good that America now exercises in the world.

"As a result of their accession America is placed where she should be."—WILLIAM CARDINAL O'CONNELL.

RED HATS BESTOWED UPON TWO AMERICAN CARDINALS

Rome, March 27.—Solemnity and pageantry, splendor marked the public consistory in St. Peter's Cathedral today when Pope Pius XI. bestowed the red hat [illegible] crowning insignia of [illegible] new dignity upon Cardinal Mundelein of Chicago and Cardinal Hayes of New York.

The ceremony was witnessed by 5,000 spectators from all parts of the world. All were turned by the pomp of the scene and the impressiveness of the rituals.

Today's rites end the consistorial ceremonies which began Monday at the Vatican when the two American prelates were officially notified of their elevation to the cardinalate.

SCENE BRILLIANT ONE.

A fanfare of trumpets at 10 o'clock announced the approach of the papal procession. Swiss guards, in brilliant uniforms, cleared the [illegible] to summon the two new American cardinals, who were subsequently escorted to the papal throne, where they went through three genuflexions, kissing the Pope's foot, knee and hand. The Pontiff then embraced them, kissing both upon the cheeks signifying they had been received as brothers. An exchange of embraces with the other cardinals followed.

Cardinal Mundelein and Cardinal Hayes were then escorted back to the papal throne. With great solemnity the Pontiff placed upon the prelates' heads the symbolic Red Hat, known as the Galerum Dacila. With open hands outstretched the Pope then chanted "Accipe Galerum Rubrum."

Chance of "Slip" Lures Crowd to Theatre

CENSOR MODIFIES THESE COSTUMES

TWO IN SPRINGFIELD SHOW

Ruth Mayon, at left, and Helene Heinritz, right, two of amateur performers in "Springfield Follies of 1924," the initial appearance of which startled censors of police department. Show goes on with more draperies and crowds throng Broadway Theatre.

SLIM LINES ARE DRAPED NOW, BUT—

You Never Can Tell, Even Though Springfield Follies Lassies Obey Police

Springfield, March 27.—It wasn't that any one thing slipped; it was, rather, that they all slipped together. Which results in the equation—nothing added to beautiful something makes a full house.

The amateur stage fashion season opened auspiciously with a showing of dainty models in pink and flesh shades in old fashioned epiderma material, shaped along slim lines and cutely dimpled at the knee.

But now the drama is being uplifted in Springfield. The "Springfield Follies of 1924," in words of the trade, is all dressed up.

They wouldn't let a little slip or two pass by.

There's always the chance for an other slip.

DANCED BEFORE COOLIDGES.

The "Springfield Follies of 1924" is a dancing review, produced by McKernan's Dancing Academy and glorified by the presence in the cast of Ralph McKernan's girl pupils.

Ruth Mayon is only fifteen, but she can clutter a 4ft in a fashion that would enlarge Ann Pennington's eyes.

Only a month ago she danced before President and Mrs Coolidge at the White House as part of the entertainment furnished Washington officials by members of the Stage Children's Association of New York.

She attends the Springfield Commercial High School when she isn't dancing, which is mostly all the time she isn't in high school.

COPETTES "ALL CUT UP."

On the opening night, two policewomen were in the audience. They were there because the eye of Harry H. Blodgett, member of the police vice squad, were popping after he had witnessed the dress rehearsal.

The policewomen were all cut up about the show. The girls' costumes consisted of a little here and there, and so loose, it is said, that they didn't stay put

After the performance Director Fred Homan and Dancing Master McKernan were advised by the police to dress the girls more and put some glue or something on the costumes.

They did

But the crowd still comes and has hopes.

ROMEO, 71, MUCH WED, IN COURT

Wife No. 3, With No. 4 Looking on, Charges Aged Lothario With Non-Support

John Jackson Farrell of Dracut may be seventy-one years old, only four feet eleven inches tall and weigh only ninety-seven pounds, but he is some considerable Lothario.

Matrimony has been very much entwined in John's accumulated years. He has four marriages to his record.

No one could say it was money that made John Jackson popular with the women, for he testified today in Somerville District Court that his income was between $20 and $24 per month.

John Jackson, so wife No. 3 says, cast her off and married the present Mrs. Farrell without going through the formality of securing a divorce.

SUES FOR SUPPORT.

Wife No. 3, who was Mrs. Josephine Higgins of Cambridge prior to her marriage to Farrell in 1912, sued Farrell for non-support.

Wife No. 4, formerly Lena B Harrington, who admits she is a genuine accompanied her husband in court.

"She had a husband living when she married me, so that made it didn't go," he told the court.

Wife No. 3 denied this.

"Pay her a dollar a week," the court ordered.

"I can't spare a dollar a week," replied the defendant. "It takes all my $24 to support my present wife who by the ways is the best looking woman in the courtroom."

SENTENCED FOR 6 MONTHS.

The judge then sentenced Farrell to six months in the House of Correction.

"You wife will get fifty cents a day while you are locked up, and that is better than a dollar a week," said the court.

Kerrell appealed and gave a bond of $100.

No action has been taken on the charges of wife No. 3 that Farrell is a bigamist. She told the court that Farrell slept with an axe under his bed and frequently walked through the house with the weapon.

Farrell was employed as a railroad crossing watchman until several years ago, when he quit his post on account of his eyesight. His present income is derived from an investment.

Nation-Wide Crusade Against Artificially Colored Salmon

Washington, March 27.—The discovery that white salmon, colored with aniline dye, was being sold as red salmon here and at Philadelphia will result in a nation-wide investigation to determine the extent of the sale and stop them.

Dr. Paul B. Dunbar, assistant chief of the bureau, said today that the dye was not likely to cause more than slight illness the principal objection to its use being the fraud involved in coloring the inferior variety of the fish to get the higher price paid for red salmon.

INSPECTED CARS DESIRED BY MOTORISTS

Used Auto Plan of Boston American Indorsed by Buyers

Buyers and prospective buyers of used cars in Boston want cars that have been inspected by Boston American mechanics.

The buyers and prospective buyers want to look at cars that have the Amerian "Inspected Insured" blue certificate pasted on the wind shield.

This is being proved daily at the automobile showrooms of dealers cooperating with the Boston American in one of the most novel services ever offered its readers by a newspaper.

PRAISES PLAN.

"They come in here with the American in their hands and ask to see the cars that have been inspected by the American's mechanics," said the head of the used car department of one prominent automobile concern. "They are pleased to find that the mechanical condition of the machine is vouched for them on the American certificate."

The head of the used car department in another salesroom is equally enthusiastic.

LOOK FOR CERTIFICATES

"It's a sound idea and is working out well. Purchasers show that they feel the American is looking out for their interests. If any difference comes up relative to any point in the car under discussion, we merely say: 'If you don't believe us, ask the American. They certified it.' That usually settles the disputed point. They don't question the American."

Not only does the Boston American "Inspected Insured" plan aid the prospective purchaser by telling him frankly on the blue certificate, the mechanical condition of the car, but it insures the machine against fire and theft for a limited period.

COOLIDGE BOYS TO TRAIN AT DEVENS

President Coolidge's sons, John and Calvin, Jr., will both be members of this year's citizens' military training camp at Camp Devens, according to a bulletin issued by the First Corps area intelligence office.

Calvin Coolidge Jr.

John Coolidge

John Coolidge, older of the two boys, was a student at the camp last year. He will, therefore, be admitted this Summer without examination. He has been assigned to a company of the red infantry.

Calvin Coolidge, Jr., the younger son, will make his debut in uniform this year. His application has been received, but he was not yet passed the mental and physical examinations which are obligatory upon candidates. If he is accepted he will attend the "basic" or beginners' course.

BURBANK OFFERS HIS GARDENS TO SCIENCE

San Francisco, March 27.—Luther Burbank, plant wizard, has offered his $100,000 "Creations Gardens" to California for educational and scientific purposes.

Luther Burbank

This became known today when petitions approved by Mr Burbank appeared, asking the Board of Regents of the University of California to take over the gardens. The botanist has been offered $100,000 for them, but says commercial profits interest him less than public benefit.

FILM SHOWS JOHN D. AT FLORIDA HOME

The current issue of International News contains exclusive pictures showing a day in the life of John D. Rockefeller, at his palatial Winter home, near Ormond, Florida.

This issue, now on the screen at leading theatres, also contains pictures of the second lap of the around-the-world fliers, this time on the leg of their trip between Sacramento, Cal., and Seattle, Wash. They skim over mountain tops, including Mt. Shasta and speed over the Columbia River, toward the next landing station.

BUILDING MODELS EXHIBITION MARCH 31

An exhibition of models of buildings by the Boston Society of Architects and the Boston Architectural Club will be held at the Rogers building, No. 49 Boylston street, from March 31 to April 12. In addition to local models, exhibits also have been obtained from David Adler of Chicago and George Howe of Philadelphia, prominent architects.

Outdoor Work Is Sought by Gassed Veteran

A veteran of the 53rd Pioneer Infantry, who served in France and was gassed, seeks light outdoor employment.

This veteran, who is thirty years old, and has two children, needs employment badly. He is a chef, but on account of his condition cannot work in a hot, stuffy kitchen.

He seeks a position as collector, timekeeper or in fact any kind of employment that will keep him outdoors and will not tax his strength too greatly.

This veteran and his family are almost destitute and the young man who was eager to get at the foe in 1917 and 1918 is just as eager now to secure employment that he may feed and clothe his family.

If you can employ this man or render him any assistance, call Charlestown 1628-W.

BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a Harmless Substitute

Dr Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. These little olive-colored Tablets are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel.

The pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does, but have no bad after effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums, so do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel. Let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place.

Headaches, "dullness" and that lazy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "logy" and "down." They "tone" clogged brain and "perk up" the spirits. 15c and 30c.

THIS WOMAN RELIEVED FROM SUFFERING

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. A Remarkable Story

Dover, Del.—"I wish every woman would take your wonderful medicine as it has done so much good to me. I had cramps and pains and spells and very bad pains. One day I was over to my neighbor's house and she told me I ought to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. So I went to the store on my way home and got a bottle, and took the first dose before supper. I have been taking it ever since, and you can hardly believe how different I feel. I had just wanted to lie in bed all the time, and when I started to brush up I would give out in about ten minutes. So you know how badly I felt. I used to go to bed at eight and get up at seven, still tired. Now I can work all day and stay up until eleven, and feel all right all the time. My housework is easy if I do in summer, but in winter I work in a factory. I have told a good many of my friends, and I have had three come to me and tell me they wouldn't do without the Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. SAMUEL MURPHY, 219 Cecil St., Dover, Delaware.

FEAR HUNDREDS DEAD IN ITALIAN LANDSLIDE

Five Villages Along Coast, Hit by Disaster, Are Cut Off From Communication

Salerno, Italy, March 27 (A.P.)—The gravity of the landslide in the vicinity of Amalfi grow hourly. Estimates here place the deaths in the villages along the coast at fifty, but many of these places are cut off both from road and wire communication, and the exact number of victims is unknown.

The chief villages affected are Vetica, where the bulk of the victims are reported; Multoli, Furore, Praiano and Atrani. (A Rome dispatch said there were at least 100 dead at Vetica.)

American and German tourists in the Amalfi hotels had all left the danger points when the slides came. When the warning signs appeared, they were assisted by the authorities and the population to remove their belongings and get out of the danger zone before the tragedy occurred. The names of the tourists are unobtainable, because of the lack of telegraphic communication.

A steamship has left from Naples to embark any tourists or others found cut off by the slide, which descended into the sea from the steep hillside.

The sea now is the only approach to the scene, and fishermen's boats are hurrying to the succor of the victims with supplies. Vice Admiral Lobetti, aboard a destroyer, is also headed for the affected zone.

TRY TO FLASH THOUGHT FROM NEW YORK

Unusual Psychological Experiment Planned by Laboratory at Harvard

What promises to be an unusual psychological experiment will be conducted next week under the auspices of the Harvard psychological laboratory.

An attempt will be made by Harvard instructors in psychology to transmit thoughts from New York to Harvard students and Harvard professors of psychology in Cambridge.

The experiments will be performed Monday and Friday evenings of each week from 7:30 to 7:36 p. m. The Harvard professors in charge of the experiment are Dr. Gardner Murphy, research fellow in psychology, and Harry Helson, a graduate student.

A group of twenty persons in New York will concentrate their attention on certain objects or ideas in an attempt to transmit them to a large group of persons in Cambridge. The participants have been instructed to segregate themselves for the six minutes of the experiments, and assume a quiet, restful pose as much as they were going to sleep. After the time is up, they have been directed to record all thoughts received during the six minutes.

On April 12, at 4:30, a special thought transference experiment to establish telepathic communication with France will be attempted. A group of persons have been organized there and will attempt to transmit an abstract idea to a larger group at Harvard.

'RED ROBE' FILM MOAT COST $27,000

Represents One of Greatest Engineering Feats in Movie History

For the enlightenment of photo[play] patrons who marvel at the [wonderful] and lavish manner in which [Under the Red Robe," the] Cosmopolitan coming to the Park [Square] next Monday has been [spent by the] corporation [illegible] some interesting figures.

[illegible] as most of which set [illegible] done in the making of [illegible] themselves adequately answer the question as to just how [illegible] is spent on films.

[illegible] the historical, master piece by Stanley Weyman to the screen the Cosmopolitan director assembled one of the most brilliant casts ever gathered for a stage or screen play. The stars for Robert B. Mantell, Dustin Farnum and Alma Rubens, the featured players and the score of principals and 1,500 extra players amounted to upwards of $20,000.

The total cost of the sets was $43,000. The costumes purchased and manufactured here and in France together with jewels, arms, accoutrements and other decorations, represented an outlay of $15,000.

The total location costs exceeded $25,000. Electricity used for lighting and power footed up a bill of $2,236. Negatives and prints amounted to $38,000. A total of nearly 300,000 feet of film at a cost of $30,000 were photographed and developed in order that the effects necessary for the 7,500 feet of film projected.

The moat adjoining the palace of the king was built at a cost of $2,000. It represents one of the largest construction and engineering feats ever undertaken for a motion picture. Two large steam shovels working eighteen hours for three weeks excavated 1½ miles of earth.

TRY TAPPING A TRANSFORMER WITH PINS

Breaks May Be Repaired cr

Push-Pull Type Transformer Made

All following kinks depend on the fact that an audio frequency transformer winding may be tapped by carefully driving a thin pin or needle into the side of the winding, as shown in Fig. I.

An open circuit in either the primary or secondary of a transformer may be easily repaired.

The way to do this is to find on with the pin in which layer of the coil the break is located, and then bridge that layer. This is done by connecting up a pair of phones, "B" battery and end of defective transformer winding nearer the core, as shown in Fig II. The pin is gently pushed into the side of the coil at various places.

TEST BY CLICKS.

Where the wire is unbroken up to the layer tapped, a click is heard in the phones. As soon as the layer containing the break is reached, and on all the succeeding layers outward after the break no click is heard. The needle or pin should be driven about three-quarter inch deep into the layer furthest from the core that still gives a click.

The "B" battery negative should then be disconnected from the inner end of the defective winding and connected to the outer end. This is repeated, finally driving a second pin into the layer nearest the core that still gives a click. It will be found that in most cases the pins are but one or two layers apart. The two pins should then be connected together by soldering a short piece of wire to both of them.

BRIDGING THE BREAK.

This bridges the layer of the winding which has the break, thereby making the transformer as good as new. In fact, no difference at all could be found between the operation of the repaired transformer and that of a new one.

Testing and repairing in this way can be done in ten minutes. This same principle of tapping the transformer winding may be used for many other purposes. For instance, the secondary of the first transformer (preferably of high ratio of a two-step amplifier can be tapped at one or five places by driving pins into the side of the winding, as shown in Fig. I. This gives control of the signal strength in volumes and clarity, just as is done in the Western Electric 10-A power amplifier.

FOR PUSH PULL.

By taking a tap from approximately the centre of the secondary, an excellent push-pull transformer can be made from any efficient high ratio (about 6 to 1) transformer. Instead of the old transformer, the primaries of two ordinary transformers were connected in series and used in a choke coil connection.

Using the same detector, tubes, plate voltage and loud speaker, the writer has obtained with this amplifier results which were in every respect equal to those obtainable from a Western Electric 10-A power amplifier, both in clarity and in volumes. In fact, what was surprising than a 3 to 1 ratio transformer was used on the first stage, the volume became much greater than that given by the W. E. amplifier, apparently the choke coil output arrangement could not handle the additional power properly and slight distortion resulted.

DOCTOR'S STOLEN CAR FOUND BY RADIO FAN

Cleveland O. [illegible] Dodge was given the credit by Dr. Jesse W. Doubman, 1286 E. 71st street, for finding his car minutes after it was stolen. He telephoned his loss to Station WTAM. Shortly afterward he was informed by a radio fan had seen his machine where a man had rammed it into a telephone pole. The physician recovered the car.

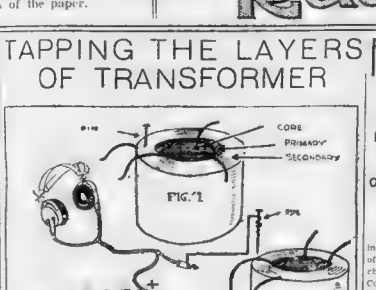
TAPPING THE LAYERS OF TRANSFORMER



REPAIRING TRANSFORMER BREAK

If you have a transformer with a break in the winding, it may be repaired by tapping around the break with pins. A high-ratio transformer may be converted into a push-pull type in a similar way.

The Listener

How many recognized the fine baritone voice of David Blair McKlosky, who has sung at several of the Boston American Tuesday night concerts as the "D. B. M." of the Shepard Stores or if on a motoring affair? A good entertainer, only makes a good announcer, as he has been trained to handle his voice properly.

Lately we took a slam at the woman announcer at WEAO. Since then we have made the acquaintance—solely by radio—of the woman announcer at WHAX, Gloucester City, N. J. We have revised our lately expressed opinion of women announcers.

If you have picked up this Gloucester City station, you have noted the fairly loud hum that seems to blur the entire broadcasting from that station. WPAB, Penn State College, is another station with a hum. They sound like a bee with much of the time, and in my opinion have the worst hum of any station. WABL, in Storrs, Ct., has a hum also, but it does not seem to interfere particularly. WRW also has a hum.

All the various hums have a slightly different sound, so that with a little experience I have found it possible to identify a station by the hum alone. The hums are all on the same pitch, but there is a distinctly different quality to them.

This station down in Fort Bragg, N. C., is soon to have special call letters issued to it. Up to the present time it has been working on an experimental license. The station is used the Fifth Field Artillery Band, also a choir and other artists from Fayetteville, ten miles away. It is the largest artillery post in the world.

One station lately gave out a program entirely made up—so far as I listened in—of selections by a fine orchestra. But to me it was like sitting in the theatre, waiting for the curtain to go up with the orchestra overture prolonged to take the place of the play.

So great is the volume of congratulatory telegrams pouring into station WDAP, Chicago, that the station, during broadcasting hours, maintains six operators on "loops" from the Western Union and Postal running direct to the studio.

At the Association Club [illegible] Dorchester, 1286 E. 7[illegible] street, for finding the car minutes after it was stolen. He telephoned his loss to Station WTAM. Shortly afterward he was informed by a radio fan had seen his machine where a man had rammed it into a telephone pole. The physician recovered the car.

I tuned in on the Lynch-Goldstein battle for the championship of the world, beginning with the semi-final which Mickey Brown was a contestant. The WEAF announcer made a queer break by referring to Brown as "Mickey Walker," also like Lynch and Goldstein among those tasks of our [illegible] in the "Hall of Fame."

GRID LEAK IS EASILY MADE

Here's a good way to make a grid leak. Take a piece of fairly hard blotting paper (the kind your tailor throws away) and the sort that does not absorb ink so readily, soak it in India ink and stand it on the radiator for a while to dry out. In fact, it won't do any harm to leave it in a dry place over night to let the ink dry thoroughly and soak through. Then cut up into strips about two inches long and half an inch wide as suggested in our sketch. Use a leather on each side to make the contact better. Cut two or three different widths and you will find one that just suits your particular tube. This sort of leak lasts well, and in widths from one-eighth to one-half inch will cover the usual range of such resistances. Try several.

N. Y. MUNICIPAL STATION ASSURED

New York, March 27 (Universal)—A radio broadcasting set will be installed in the Municipal Building in the near future to promote education, recreation and civic spirit, it was announced by Grover A. Whalen, Commissioner of Plant and Structures.

"With equipment as powerful or more powerful than WEAF and without taint of commercialism," said Whalen said, "the municipal radio will attract the best talent and the great multitude of radio fans will eagerly tune in. Many hundreds have gotten for a municipal concert in the past, hundreds of thousands will enjoy the programs of the municipal broadcasting station."

MOVE TO BREAK LIGHT BULB 'TRUST' BEGUN

General Electric Business $50,000,000 a Year, Suit Charges

Cleveland, March 27.—Conspiracy in restraint of trade and in violation of the Sherman anti-trust law was charged to the General Electric Company and its entire system for manufacturing and distributing electric light bulbs, in a suit filed in Federal Court here by United States District Attorney A. E. Bernstein.

The petition demands that a system of contracts existing between the General Electric Company and its agents and jobbers governing the distribution of lamps manufactured by the company be adjudged a violation of the Sherman anti-trust law and that they be ordered annulled.

It declares that the business of the firm amounts to probably $50,000,000 a year.

With the General Electric Company, the Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing Co., and the West Lighouse Lamp Company are named as co-defendants.

The suit was filed under the direction of Attorney General Daugherty.

Radio Queries

1—Will a .0005 condenser work as good as a .00023 in the super? 2—On page 19, upper diagram, do I connect two .006 mfd. condensers together where C8 is marked? 3—Top leaf of jack one connects with plate of tube, the two centre leaves with primary of transformer, and bottom leaf with the B battery and primary of transformer, making three connections to two primary terminals of transformer. Is this right? 4—Does it make any difference to which screw I connect wires on rheostat?

1—No. 2.—Yes. 3.—This is all right, but it is easier to connect the jack to the B battery only, leaving the two connections of transformer to the two middle leaves. 4—No.

I have a 4 tube Super and am well satisfied with it. While tuning in on the station that is going the strongest, I get a loud squeal when the rheostat for the R.F. tube is adjusted. Tuning finishes off the squeal stops and I get good reception. I have tuned in KGO and KHJ in this manner. I get best results using 6 for detector and R F and two UV201's for and o. Can I get rid of this squeal and still get good reception? Listened to St Francis Hotel orchestra at KGO Wednesday morning on the loud speaker for an hour a short time after completing set.

H. J.

Try removing the C8 condenser and substituting a .001 mfd. condenser across the B battery only. Also experiment with the tip of one of the coils. By lowering the rheostat kills the squeal. I should think this would be enough in itself, as .0005 mfd. is large in the Paragon coils on a loud speaker.

I have a 4 tube Super with which I collect seventy five stations during the last six weeks. Will the addition of a two-stage amplifier increase the number? Following are the stations: CFCF, CKAC, CHCK, CHYC, PWX, WAAM, WABL, WAHG, WBBR, WBBG, WCAE, WCAD, WCAP, WCBD, WCX, WDAP, WDAR, WEAF, WFAA, WGR, WGY, WHAD, WHAS, WHN, WIAD, WIP, WJAR, WJAX, WJAZ, WJZ, WKAR, WLAC, WLW, WMAF, WMAK, WOAW, WOC, WOO, WOR, WOS, WPAB, WPAL, WQAM, WRAH, WRAX, WRC, WSAD, WSAI, WSAR, WSB, WSMB, WTAS, WTAY, WWI, WWJ, KDKA KFKX, KOP, KQV, KYW, NAA, WTAR, WMAQ, WHB, WHAA, WHAZ, WDAF KSD and WMAK

Good. An audio-frequency amplifier should increase your range somewhat, as signals too feeble to operate the phones are frequently strong enough for an audio-frequency amplifier.

PSYCHIC TIP FAILS TO GET RIGHT BONES

Montreal, March 27.—Acting on the suggestion of a psychic visitor that the remains of Ambrose Small millionaire theatrical magnate, who disappeared some time ago, might be found in the cellar of a St. Catherine street rooming house, detectives today dug a trench at the spot indicated.

They found bones, but medical authorities said they were not those of a human being.

CHICKIE

The Beautiful, but Bluntly Honest Story of a Boston Girl

By ELENORE MEHERIN

Seething Life of a Lovely Boston Girl of This Strange Today

"SO you've fallen that hard, Chickie? You don't even want to go out with anyone else? You've fallen in love? But look here, he's a nice youngster and all that, but you can't go out with him every single night. That'll never do! Who's hurt if you give me the evening he can't fill?"

She was right.

"Here's something else for you to remember, dear. That boy's just beginning. It'll be years and years before he can give you a tithe of the things you ought to have now are you going to sit around and get old and rusty waiting? Are you going to give up all the joys of life? Why, my dear, you'll make an old hag of yourself."

"You owe it to the lad to keep yourself gay and alluring. Tomorrow you'll be a thousand times brighter and more interesting because you've had a little space tonight. Not so, my dear?"

Sit Out a Dance.

They sat on a divan at the far end of a corridor, shut off a little from the bright flash of the dance and the couples moving in and out. Through locked glass doors they saw the machines marked across the avenue—now and then a shifty looking character ambling resolutely into the darkness.

Jake had his hand clasped on Chickie's bare elbow. His eyes straight here with gay, insistent pleading. "Are you pushing me into it, Chickie, Jake? But I'm not at all sure."

"Don't pretend to, and if yourself Chickie. You never seem to real how what you're doing. Why my dear, the last five or six years are the best and sweetest of your life. You should fill them with pleasant, sure up memories for the after quiet. No man has a right to expect a girl to remain young while you're waiting for him to catch up with you; while you're waiting for him to earn enough to give you what you should have."

Will Need Both

"Think of that side of it. Don't be like other girls, Chickie, and throw away your head because you've found your heart. You'll need both when it comes to men."

"You're a hard lot to manage, aren't you?"

"We are! Now what night shall it be?"

"Please, Jake—you see I'm telling you the truth——"

When the man was ready he looked for fresh flower. I tell you you've got to keep the garden watered or it will cease to bloom. Let me carry the watering pot, Chickie."

"I don't understand it."

"But you'll make me trust to surprises, then"

"Oh—you won't do this again, Jake. Why, you won't be so lucky the next time."

"You wouldn't close me out—for that, Chickie? An old old friend like me? If you do this, Chickie, you shut the door on every grain I'm telling you you'll regret it."

"You'd find yourself a sorry prophet, Jake! Regret, indeed!"

FORBES' VIEWS ON FINANCE

—By B. C. Forbes—

If you should accidentally tear a $1 bill or a $10 bill or any size of bill into a number of pieces, you can get another bill for it from the government.

But if a draft should blow one's your bills into the fire or if the wind swept one overboard while you were at sea, you would be out of luck.

* * *

On one occasion, the government did take into account the loss of United States notes through fire. Following up our answers in yesterday's column to questions concerning what allowance is made for lost or destroyed money, it is interesting to note that in the great Chicago fire of 1871, the government calculated $1,000,000 of United States notes was destroyed in the Sub-Treasury building in that city. And it deducted that amount from the estimate of our total stock of money.

* * *

Allowances have been made for the loss or destruction of fractional currency.

The government figured that $32,000 of small currency was destroyed in the Chicago fire.

The government also reckons that a total of $12,218,000.45 of small change has been lost or destroyed while in the hands of the public.

* * *

There is, of course, a considerable amount of money tied up in reserve against gold and silver certificates. But the reserve held by the government against the United States notes is fixed by law, and doesn't fluctuate according to the volume of notes nominally outstanding.

* * *

United States notes were first issued in 1862. The total authorized was $450,000,000. By the first month of 1864, virtually all were issued—$449,338,901. Between 1866 and 1868, that total was reduced to $356,000,000.

No change took place until after the terrible panic of 1873, when $26,000,000 of notes were released. After redemption of bank notes was resumed in 1875, the total was reduced, by 1878, to $346,681,016. It has remained at this figure ever since.

* * *

The gold fund held by the treasury for the redemption of these United States notes is fixed by law at not less than $100,000,000. Therefore, no change is made on account of notes which may be destroyed.

* * *

The first paper money issued by the United States Government consisted of demand notes, first issued in 1861. These demand notes were redeemable in gold.

But in February, 1862, United States notes were substituted for demand notes, and the latter were cancelled wherever presented. By June 30, 1864, $59,240,962.50 had been redeemed of the total issue of $150,000,000.

You may have heard some remark "like a bad penny, they always turn up." During the year ended June 30, 1918, hundreds of these old-time demand notes showed up and were redeemed. Since then none has appeared.

The government no longer regards the balance $53,012.50 as circulation, but has classified the item as matured debt bearing no interest.

This shows that few of these demand notes were lost or destroyed, even though they were issued in circulation during war-time.

* * *

During the years from 1863 to 1876 fractional currency was issued to supply the lack of small change caused by the disappearance of coin consequent upon the suspension of specie payments. By 1921 little of this fractional currency was being offered for redemption. The amount unaccounted for was about $15,000,000. The government figures estimate that about $13,000,000 must have been lost or destroyed, apart from the $32,000 which was estimated to have been destroyed in the Chicago fire.

The Treasury put down $1,399,210.30 as the amount of its debt under this fractional currency head. It is interesting to note that these small notes are "fiat" money—are still being presented for redemption.

* * *

Three other forms of obsolete currency also appear on the government's debt statement, namely: $157.50 for compound interest notes, $30,180 for one year notes of 1863 and $26,700 for two year notes of 1863. Small amounts of these are still offered for redemption. No deductions for loss or destruction of these forms of currency have been made.

* * *

From the facts given here and the facts given in yesterday's column it would appear that people hold on to their money rather carefully and that they do not let much of it blow into the fire or into sewers. More carelessness would seem to be shown by people who deposit in savings banks never return to get it. Many, many millions have been left unclaimed by savings bank depositors.

Hospital Gives Girl Mothers Free Aid

This is the twenty-eighth of a series of articles which is a sequel to this newspaper's investigation of medical quackery in Greater Boston.

If you are not acquainted with reputable physicians and wish to make sure of obtaining expert advice and fair dealing, the series will show you how to avoid quacks by patronizing Boston's health centres, the best in the country.

The Florence Crittenton League of Compassion, through its sixty-two homes scattered throughout this country, the Boston branch of which is at No. 701 Massachusetts avenue, performs for unfortunate girls through its maternity, educational and protective departments, a work of inestimable value.

No need is there at these girls resorting to quacks and unscrupulous practitioners with perhaps, fatal consequences.

Every year thousands of babies are born handicapped because they have no legal father. The Florence Crittenton League aids themothers of these babies by providing a home and hospital for them; giving prenatal, natal, post-natal and dental care, and by teaching them housekeeping.

Unwanted girls, not feeble minded, free from contagious disease, and about to become mothers for the first time, are admitted to the Home, provided that they sincerely desire to live a right life. Others are taken in emergency.

The League endeavors to increase a girl's earning capacity by furnishing training in the domestic arts, laundry, sewing and in the care of infants.

Girls who can afford to do so, pay a $25 maternity fee, which includes all pre-natal, post-natal and natal services, and $5 a week for board, she may remain at the hospital as long as necessary.

Girls come to this home voluntarily through physicians, parents, social workers, teachers, public officials, clergymen, or by printed information which reaches them.

A father, the child, the child, the mother sometimes is unable to provide a home for it, and often takes a housework position for a period in order to be with the baby.

Often, too, she goes back to a more remunerative position, and places the child to board with a friend. Many of the girls go to their own homes with the baby, and frequently the child is adopted into the family by parents, grandparents or a near relative.

The hospital follows up the cases of the girls after leaving, and sees to it that she receives proper medical, hospital and nursing care, and if found in want, she is clothed and sheltered.

The Educational Department conducts through local circles a preventive program by means of talks, literature, conferences, etc., in the endeavor to keep the girls under good influence, and prevents them from becoming second offenders.

The Protective Department aims to help the girls adjust themselves to their new environment and supervises and makes surveys.

Over 400,000 girls have been cared for in the League's homes since its establishment in 1883. Less than 15 per cent. of the girls who have received treatment have become second offenders.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED.

Please tell me how to get rid of pimples.

Pimples may be due to a number of causes. If you will describe the symptoms and describe your trouble in detail, I will be better able to advise you.

Kindly send me a diet for a man troubled with constipation. He was told that I have acidite rheumatism. Now it feels as if I had it in my arms, shoulders, legs, back and knees. Also have pains in the region of my heart. Could I have an X-Ray taken of my teeth and kidneys or a stomach test? E. H.

Any City Hospital will take an X-Ray of your teeth for a small consum. This may solve your problem.

Am thirty-nine years of age. Have a terrible pain and soreness on my left side or my back. Have had it for about a year. Have five children. Was sick about a year. My color is very yellow and have a bad smelling breath. My hands quiver. J. J. B.

Regulate your diet and a mineral oil for the regulation of your bowels. I would also advise that you have an X-Ray taken of your side to see if there is any pathological condition present.

I read a warning against using water from a hot water tank for drinking or cooking. It said iron tanks and pipes were apt to give germs then. Is water right to be poisoned. What do you think about it?

Hot water from a proper hot water tank is perfectly safe, but is not palatable. If it goes through lead pipes it may be injurious. I am now very few dwelling houses have lead pipe connections.

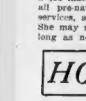
I have a small brother who always sweats when he sleeps. Please tell me how to stop him from sweating. A. D.

Your brother should be examined to see if there is any rickets, tuberculosis, etc. It is a sign of a weak, nervous body.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. F. X. MAHONEY,
Boston Health Commissioner.

DUST and dirt have no place in the clean household. The improper method of dry sweeping and dusting should be avoided.



Dr. Mahoney.

Dust and dirt, especially in the air, may carry organisms of disease. Whether disease is taken or not, dust is irritating to the mucous membrane of the nose and throat. Such irritation is a contributory factor in causing colds.

We realize that dust seemingly exists everywhere. It really must because it is a normal constituent of the air, but normal or necessary atmospheric dust, free from bacteria is of little consequence. The amount and character of bacteria-laden dust are the determining factors.

The dust that is raised in homes or the food establishment or the street is most dangerous from a hygienic standpoint. The house dust is the more likely to contain pathogenic organisms, but either indoor or outdoor dust is unhygienic, unsanitary, uncomfortable or dangerous.

Clean it up. Remove it, but do it with a damp cloth, by suction or vacuum cleaner. Get rid of it properly, do not merely relocate it with dry sweeping and dusting or brushing, in the meantime inhaling what might prove to be dangerous germs.

The Cardinal's Cheering Radio

America First Is the Message He Brings From Rome and First Means First in Charity.

The last edition of the Boston American had gone to press yesterday when the radio brought a message from Cardinal O'Connell at sea. For the benefit of those who failed to see our extra edition his message follows:

"Eagerly longing for home. America never seemed so truly great

"The Pope's allocution in consistory, confirming words spoken to me in audience, openly and whole heartedly places America morally first in charitable achievements in the world. The Mediterranean still is struggling for the return of normal life. Palestine still somewhat agitated."

We have been "first in war, first in peace, first in wealth and resources." But to be first in charity, as His Eminence so happily puts it, is greater than all the rest.

Men Should Wear Wedding Rings as Women Do

The Ring Symbolizes OWNERSHIP. Husband AND Wife Should Wear It or Neither Should Wear It

Copyright, 1924, Star Co.

In a little place in Pennsylvania a happy gentleman was about to be married, and he was much excited about it.

He ordered and put on exhibition in the jeweler's window the biggest, heaviest wedding ring ever seen. Of massive gold, it weighed twenty-three and a half pennyweights—about five times as much as the ordinary wedding ring.

The gentleman who wants his wife to wear the biggest kind of a ring possible is going back, although he doesn't know it, to the old days when the wedding ring idea began.

There is no reasonable doubt that the wedding ring is a survival of times when the woman was actually OWNED, and when the ring, instead of being around her finger, was put around her neck or around her waist, to lead her off behind the gentleman that had caught her and meant to keep her.

Those things in which we take a sentimental pride often survive to remind us of humiliating conditions.

The Chinese women are proud of their squeezed little feet, forgetting that their conquerors squeezed their feet originally to prevent them from running away.

And so the sentimental young woman today is terrifically excited about her wedding ring, which is a sort of sentimental golden vermiform appendix dwindled down from the old slavery ring of the past.

This gentleman with the big ring suggests to our minds this idea:

HUSBANDS SHOULD WEAR BIG GOLDEN WEDDING RINGS JUST THE SAME AS THEIR WIVES DO.

Is there any reason why a woman should go around with a ring on her finger saying to all the world, "I am disposed of. Don't look at me. I BELONG to a gentleman, and if you show the slightest interest I'll call the police," unless her husband does the same?

We believe that it would be even BETTER for men to wear wedding rings than for women to wear them.

For instance, the ring would save a lot of explanation when a sensible man is asked to waste his money in drink or gambling or otherwise. He would simply lift up his hand with the wedding ring on it, look solemn and go his way. The others would hang guilty heads and say to themselves at once, "He means that he has got a wife and children at home and he has better ways of spending his money than with us. Let us honor the ring."

The wedding ring on the man's finger would also be a necessary indication and guide for the young women. Nothing is more deserving of sympathy than the average unmarried girl wandering through the earth conscious of the fact that she must select some imperfect creature and reconcile herself to live with his imperfections all the rest of her life.

She owes it to herself and the future generation to be very particular. It is her principal duty and business to investigate men as a CLASS and as INDIVIDUALS. She ought not to be allowed to waste her investigating powers on men already married when such a simple little badge as a wedding ring could act as a red flag and warn her away.

The wedding ring also would act as a useful reminder and deterrent for a good many men inclined to be foolish. And the sight of a wedding ring would keep men of good character from asking the ringed man to take things to drink or otherwise play the fool.

Many a man misbehaves himself because he thinks it will hurt no one but himself. But with a ring on his finger to tell of a wife and a family at home, he would be ashamed to do anything unworthy of THEM.

We not only recommend that husbands wear wedding rings as their wives do, BUT ALSO THAT THE HUSBAND'S RING BE FASTENED ON SO THAT IT CANNOT COME OFF.

That is the least, it seems to us, that wives could reasonably ask. It would do a great deal of good, absolutely no harm; so it could not be objected to.

We are aware that many husbands wear wedding rings today. But the number should be vastly increased. And we advise any young bride, at the beginning, when the new husband is like putty in the hands of the window-glass man, to get the ring on his finger and fasten it there without loss of time.

Take a Ride On Columbia Road

And Wonder if the Contractor Who Laid It Has Ever Had Another Job.

"I drove down Columbia road from Dorchester avenue to City Point, with one of our experienced truck drivers," says Malcolm Lunn, Circulation Manager of the American. "When we turned into Columbia road, he said, 'Have a look at the finest road in the State of Massachusetts. It was laid years ago. The contractor never got another job.'"

"After riding over Boston's rutty roads that require more money for repatching every year, you may believe him. There is no resale profit for contractors in roads like Columbia."

LISTEN, WORLD! -:- By ELSIE ROBINSON

IN that grim book, "The Cathedral," Hugh Walpole says, "THERE IS NO EGOTISM IN THE WORLD SO COMPLETE AS THE DISAPPOINTED WOMAN WITH IMAGINATION."

He is describing a woman who might well be the prototype of countless thousands of unhappy married women. Amy Brandon is a little, gray, unconsidered woman, lost in her husband's shadow. Neither husband, son nor daughter seems to need her. The town hardly knows that she exists. But she knows that she exists, knows it with an inflamed consciousness of her own misery. She stops thinking of others because they seem to have stopped thinking of her, and focuses entirely on herself. So she loses all social and moral perspective. She is a "disappointed woman" and her egotism is deadly.

America is full of Amy Brandons today. EVERY MARRIED WOMAN PASSES THROUGH AN AMY BRANDON PERIOD AT SOME TIME IN HER LIFE. Sometimes it comes when she is first married and has not yet oriented herself in her new estate. Sometimes it comes with middle years, when age falls on her while her husband is yet young. Sometimes it comes at that dread ten-year-after marriage period, when life seems cemented in a dreary rut and every normal woman longs for something new. But whenever it comes it hangs like a pall over the home.

Men do not understand this. Their Amy may seem a little quiet or peevish, but they lay it to headaches or female cussedness. But Amy has something deeper and deadlier than a headache. She has something that is first fumbling cousin to insanity. Let her egotism and sense of isolation grow only a little more acute, let her imagination atrophy the least bit more, and Amy will be in truth insane, even if no alienist shall so classify her.

Are you an Amy Brandon, sister? Do you feel that no one understands, that no one really cares? Are you lost in the black pit of your own despair, and are the voices of the world growing fainter every day? "No interest in anything any more." I know what it means when women say that. There's agony in that phrase as dreadful as the agony of slow strangulation. It IS slow strangulation—the strangulation of the soul.

Listen, girl. You MUST find interest in things again. You must climb up out of the black pit of your own egotism or in that blackness you will surely lose all touch with normal life. You must save yourself by that agency which Amy Brandon lacked—YOUR IMAGINATION.

Imagination is the power to see outside yourself—the power to project yourself into other lives and thus preserve or restore your normal perspective. As long as you can't see other sorrows your own sorrows will darken all the sky. But as soon as you do reach out into other lives your own concerns will shrink, no matter how overshadowing they may be. The egotism which is stifling your soul will drop from you. You will no longer be just your lonely, sad, neglected self. You will be part of everyone else. You will be revived in their pleasures, and redeemed through service in their need.

REACH OUT! Reach out through books, through newspapers, through gramophone records, through deliberate thought of others while you sit sewing, through healthy gossip, through movies, through walks, through letters—through any means however small or great that come your way. Hang on to that imagination of yours as you would hang on to a lifeline if you were drowning. For you are drowning, in your own lassitude and bitterness.

And here's something to prove that this is more than an empty preachment. I know how desperately some of you are beset, for I've been an Amy Brandon myself. It isn't always easy to find a way out. There is no one to turn to. Well, if it will help, sister, there's ME. If you'll write to me I'll write back. I want to help. I'll try to help. I can at least grip your hand in friendliness. That grip is yours for the asking.

DR. FRANK CRANE ON POWER OF AN ENDLESS LIFE

By Dr. Frank Crane

IF there be some watcher in the skies to whom a thousand years are but as yesterday when it is past, and to whom the events upon this earth are a swift moving cinema, what judgment has he formed of the human drama unfolding upon this planet?

The other day the University of Sydney, Australia, sent to the United States government the skull of a man who, according to the scientists, lived about twenty thousand years ago. The man, whose brain functioned within this skull two hundred centuries ago, thirsted one day and stooped to drink at a brook bank.

There, in some unknown way, sudden death found him. The sand and mud, the silt of years, covered him. In this sediment was iron and lime enough to crust the skull, petrify it, and bring it through the ages until now in perfect condition.

If, upon some neighboring star, the soul of this prehistoric man has watched the upward sweep of social life, from the days when cavemen shivered in their fireless caves and were but little better than the animals that prowled about them, to the twentieth century, with its skyscrapers and leviathans, what a ripe and tolerant mind must be his.

If, as humanity has stubbornly persisted in believing, the human ego lives on in spiritual integrity after the period of gestation in the body, and if the mental powers of that spirit continue to improve with growth, what a meaning attaches to that phrase, "The power of an endless life!"

For instance, what a strength of will this man must have, how strong and swift his decisions, matured through centuries of practice!

How vivid and complete would be his imagination after these thousands of years of training!

How capacious his memory, containing facts and pictures more luminous than all the libraries of earth!

We know that what we call goodness and virtue is nothing but the result of the ripe conclusions of experience, and what we call sin or weakness is no more than the folly that comes through ignorance and the child minded fatuity of inexperience. So then how richly good, as well as how profoundly wise, this two hundred century old man must be!

To him those temptations that loom like monsters in the brief lives of men appear but as negligible insects of a Summer's day.

In fact, we have only to project any human life twenty thousand years and, by the orderly development of its inherent nature, we see it approach Divinity.

How friendly, how powerful, how sublimely beautiful are all those souls that have left this planet through the doors of death to populate the stars.

Why should we shrink from joining that company whose vast experience has reached disgust with the last temptation, whose souls, ripening, has brought them to the sweetness of perfect understanding, and the increase of whose knowledge has pushed them up to the comprehension of the Maker of the spheres?

GARRETT P. SERVISS ON PSYCHOLOGY

By Garrett P. Serviss

Famous Astronomer and Writer on Scientific Topics of Popular Interest.

"Kindly tell me something about the so-called subconscious mind and its location. Is psychology an exact science?

"H. J. S."

I WILL answer your last question first: Psychology is not, and will never become, an exact science in the sense in which the mathematical sciences are exact. Its data and conclusions resemble rather those of the economical sciences and of the science of the law. You cannot restrict human conduct to a mathematical curve.

Psychology is, perhaps, the most important of all sciences in its bearings on humanity. But it sits, flates pseudo-thinking, and is a dangerous thing to monkey with. There is a great deal too much amateur psychology posing in hierarchic garments. People who learn their psychology from "psychological novels" and from Freudian enthusiasts would better have let the subject alone. The true science of psychology is no doubt destined to a high development, but it needs time and the labors of very careful investigators.

There is possibly a shade of satire in your suggestion that the subconscious mind must have a "location." Since the discovery that the brain is the seat of consciousness it has not unnaturally, been assumed that the mind finds a sort of habitation in the brain. But if the conscious mind is "located" in the brain the subconscious mind must be there, too. They are not different things.

The best illustrative definition of the subconscious mind that I recall likens it to the invisible part of the spectrum of light. This invisible part of the light spectrum is longer than the visible part, but differs from it in wave-length and frequency of vibration. By changing the length of its waves it can be brought into the visible region of the spectrum and so made perceptible to the eye.

In like manner, the unconscious part of the mind, in certain conditions, is brought into the range of consciousness, and this is what occurs when suggestions from the subconscious control a person's thoughts or actions. There is a shifting of the mental spectrum.

It is held by some who have engaged in psychical research that "contents" of the conscious mind may be "repressed" into the region of the subconscious, where they remain unaffected, although they are beyond the range of conscious perception, and that these repressed elements may, in certain circumstances, as for instance during trance, create a kind of second personality, whose doings are unperceived by the other part of the mind, which controls its waking activities.

In this way, it has been suggested, may be defended the sincerity of the declarations of "honest" mediums who have demonstrably committed frauds when under trance, but who, on awaking, affirm that they have been guilty of no deceit. Their conscious minds had no knowledge of what the other half did while it was in control.

But it would be a public danger to extend this teaching too far, for it might induce criminals to claim sanctuary against the law on the ground that they knew nothing of the acts inspired by their "subliminal" personalities. There are already far too many specious dodges by which wrongdoers may awaken unfounded sympathy.

I have seen a number of mediums, and my personal opinion is that every one of them was a fraud, that I could have caught every one of them in flagrante delictu, if I had not been bound by the restrictions of the game, and, moreover, that not one of them was under deception, or blinded by his or her subconscious mind.

Some of the accounts that have been published of "multiple personalities," which are manifestly phenomena depending upon the doctrine of the subconscious, furnish reading as fascinating as it is puzzling. I wish that Dr. W. F. Prince would extract out of the voluminous records of the Proceedings of the American Society for Psychical Research and publish in a single, not too large, volume the extraordinary story of the three persons in one who was little "Doris Fischer."
